BURWELL LEADING FOR SPEAKERSHIP SAY "DOPESTERS"

Friends Claim 130 Votes as His on First Ballot and Feel That Election Is a Certainty.

ANDERSON ADDS THREE TO HIS TOTAL OF 28

Judge Allen, on Other Hand, Issues Statement that He Has Won Over Four of Rival's Supporters.

Unless the political "dopesters" are all badly off on their count, Representative W. H. Burwell, of Hancock, will be elected speaker of the house on the first ballot by a very substantial majority when that body convenes in its hall in the capitol tomorrow morning for the regular 1913 session.

The fight for the presidency of the senate is still badly mixed with the odds apparently slightly favoring J. Randolph Anderson, of the first senatorial district, over his competitor, J. T. Allen, of the twentieth.

Mr. Burwell's friends claim that he will have 130 votes or even more on the first ballot, while only 94 are required to put him safely over. They strongly hint that his two competitors will retire from the field before the vote is taken and that his election will be unanimous.

This suggestion was vigorously repelled, however, by the other two men in the race, R. N. Hardeman, of Jefferson, and J. E. Sheppard, of Sumter, Monday, and their friends. They asserted that they would be in the race until the vote was counted and that a great many of the claims made by the Burwell contingent were built on no more substantial basis than "hot air."

Throughout the day and until a late hour of the night Monday the Kimball house lobby was crowded with friends of the various candidates, working in the interest of the men of their choice and with the incoming members of both houses, who arrived to the number of considerably over a hundred during the course of the day. Not in recent years have so many members of the general assembly been seen at the capitol two days before the opening of the session.

Senate Fight More Strenuous.

A much more strenuously contested fight is being waged for the presidency of the senate than for the speakership of the house. Many charges and recriminations were made by workers for the respective sides which threatened at times to reach the point of personal bitterness.

The friends of Judge Allen were at first very much inclined to pooh-pooh the claim made by Mr. Anderson that he had twenty-tight signed pledges of support, and the report went out from the judge's headquarters that he would retire from the race if Mr. Anderson would show him such a signed list.

Replies to Challenge.

Senator Anderson sent word to his opponent that if he would furnish a written statement to the effect that he would retire if he found the list to be bona fide and every name on it was verified then the list would be forthcoming. To this message Anderson's friends say no reply was received. There is no doubt that Mr. Anderson has such a list as it has been seen by many of his friends who are not members of the senate, to whom he has shown it confidentially.

There was a caucus of Mr. Anderson's friends in the senate held at his headquarters in the Kimball house, at which sixteen senators pledged to his election were said to have been present. That was all of the twenty-eight who had arrived in the city at the time the caucus was held, but telegrams and letters are said to have been read from all the others pledging their continued support. Three others were said to have been added, bringing the total strength up to thirty-one. Other Anderson senators arrived too late for the caucus, but reported at Mr. Anderson's headquarters as soon as they arrived so that he might know where they stood.

Jubilant After Caucus.

The Anderson following seemed very jubilant over the results shown at the caucus. After the caucus was over Senators W. W. Starke, of the thirty-third, and N. B. Chennault, of the twenty-ninth, were seen by a Constitution representative and they gave out the following statement as to the showing made at their meeting:

"At a caucus of the friends of Hon. J. Randolph Anderson, held at the Kimball house Monday afternoon, it positively appeared that he had twen-

Struck by a Sandbag Smoker of Cigarettes Finds Habit Is Cured

W. W. Christian Loses $14 and Pocket-Knife, But Is More Than Satisfied With Result.

A blow on the forehead, delivered last night by a sandbag in the hand of a highwayman, has deprived W. W. Christian of the cigarette habit, greatly puzzling Grady hospital surgeons as a result.

An inveterate smoker before the assault, he left the hospital shortly before midnight without the slightest taste for tobacco, and in the hope that the change would be permanent, he left a package of cigarettes with the hospital night clerk.

Christian is a cabinet maker, and lives at 16 Larkin street. Shortly after dark, as he crossed Tattnall street at Stonewall, two men approached him. Both were white. The youngest asked for a cigarette. As Christian reached in his pocket for his package, the second robber struck him in the temple with a sandbag.

The next thing he knew, he told the police, was when he awoke on the operating table at Grady. Employees of a drug store at Stonewall and Chapel streets, only a short distance from the scene of the hold-up, say the cabinet maker stumbled into the store, dazed, and mumbled incoherent words about cigarettes and cowards with sandbags.

The robbers got $14 and a pocket-knife, Christian said to the police that if he had really been cured of the cigarette habit he considers the money well spent.

HE CHAINS DAUGHTER AND HORSEWHIPPED HER

Augusta Police Reach the Johnson Home Barely in Time to Save the Girl.

Augusta, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Strung up to the wall with a calf chain around her neck, one end fastened in a staple high over her head, her father standing over her with the end of a broken buggy whip, Nellie Johnson, a girl about 17 years old, was found by the police tonight, almost strangled to death.

J. J. Johnson runs a butcher shop at 902 Eleventh street and the family lives in the same building. Late tonight shrieking and screams of a woman and nottfied police headquarters and a detail was sent to investigate.

The officers found Johnson's wife cowering in one room, while in the other, back of the market proper, Johnson was beating the girl, who was all but strangled to death, her toes barely resting on the floor. At police headquarters she was revived by the department physician and it was found that her body was a mass of welts from the piece of buggy whip, while her neck and shoulders are badly bruised and lacerated from the chain.

Johnson's wife says the man became infuriated because the girl talked to a young man over the business telephone in the market.

RED WORK AT WEDDING BY REJECTED SUITOR

He Murdered Bride and Man and Fatally Wounds Three Other Persons.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 23.—A rejected suitor tonight shot and killed a young bride and a man who attempted to save her, while three others, one woman and two men, were probably fatally injured at the wedding celebration in the northern part of the city, where the double tragedy occurred.

The dead are:

MRS. NICHOLAS BOZELLE, 18 years old, and VINCENT SPIRTI, of Lansdowne, Pa.

Selice Spirti, of Morton, Del., was stabbed near the heart; an unidentified woman, about 25 years old, was shot through the breast.

Angelo Geocino, who is accused of doing the shooting, was slashed about the throat. None of the wounded is expected to recover.

Mrs. Bozelle was married five months ago upon her arrival here from Italy to marry the man who was her childhood sweetheart. But before coming to this country she had been courted by Geocino, whose attentions she is said to have spurned. Geocino, it is said, followed her to America, but did not cause her any annoyance until tonight, when he appeared at the celebration. As he entered the room where the merrymaking was in progress, it is alleged Geocino opened fire at the young bride. Spirti sprang to her assistance and received a bullet in the heart. When Geocino had emptied his weapon the crowd surged upon him and someone slashed him in the neck with a knife.

REV. E. G. MURPHY PASSES IN NEW YORK

New York, June 23.—The Rev. Edward Gardner Murphy, of the Protestant Episcopal church, founder of the national child labor committee, died today at his home here, aged 44 years. He was a native of Arkansas, and a graduate of the University of the South. For many years he held a pastorate in Birmingham, Ala., and took an active part in civic and educational movements in the south.

DENIED CLEMENCY, BOY SHOT UP COURT

Ray Stewart, 18 Years Old, Tried to Kill Washington Judge and Prosecutors—Is Reader of Cheap Literature.

Washington, June 23.— Judge, lawyers, policemen and spectators were sent scurrying to cover in the criminal court here late today, when Ray M. Stewart, aged 18, fired three wild shots in an attempt to "shoot up" the court. At the first crack Justice Wendell P. Stafford disappeared beneath the desk, and out in the court room there was a wild scramble for places of safety. Some sought refuge under tables or behind heavy chairs, and others, frenzied by fear, leaped into windows and dropped to the ground some fifteen or twenty feet below.

Justice Stafford had just refused to release Stewart on probation after conviction for attempted highway robbery. The boy whipped out a pistol and fired three shots, two of which narrowly missed Assistant United States Attorney Samuel Hacken and Harvey Given and Policeman Moffett. He was in the attitude of turning toward the judge as if to shoot, when a witness sprang upon him and choked him into insensibility.

In the confusion that followed many thought Justice Stafford had been struck by a bullet, but the judge emerged from his haven without a scratch.

Convicted of Holding Up Negro.

Stewart had been convicted recently of holding up a negro in a Washington suburb last December. He had applied for probation as a first offender and Judge Stafford had been hearing the testimony of witnesses for and against the applicant. Hawken, Given and Moffett, who were conducting the prosecution, were seated near the boy, who had been at liberty on bail.

The judge had barely uttered the last word in passing sentence when the prisoner began to shoot. The first shot was aimed in the direction of the prosecutors, and just missed Hawken, who ducked under the table. The next shot went toward the jury box and passed dangerously near Detective Sergeant Grant's head. It struck a wall and rebounded, falling near Justice Stafford's bench. The third shot struck the ceiling.

Seized Boy by Throat.

As the youth wheeled and faced the bench, Edwin Blaine, a clerk in the department of agriculture who had been a witness for the state, seized the boy by the throat and carried him to the floor.

By this time the court room had been nearly cleared of officials and spectators.

Stewart lay unconscious for several minutes after being disarmed. Later he was removed to the cell room beneath the court room.

Counsel for Stewart said the youth was unbalanced as the result of reading cheap literature. The hold-up for which the boy was about to be sentenced had many features of the dime novel variety.

Tonight the boy is in jail awaiting trial on the charge of shooting with intent to kill.

AGED MAN MURDERED FOR MONEY IN STORE

Homer Carmack, White Youth, Confesses to Part in Slaying of Storekeeper for Gold.

Columbus, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—With his throat cut and his face and arms slashed, J. J. Folk, aged 60, a merchant of Phenix City, Ala., was found dead early this morning in his dwelling over his store. Howe Homer Carmack, aged 21, of Phenix City, is in the city jail where, it is stated, that he has confessed to connection with the murder.

The old man lived alone over his store, and, according to the story alleged to have been wrung from the white youth, a man named Taylor, whose first name the boy says he does not know, killed the old man while the boy stood by and watched the crime.

The Carmack affair is the result that he had no part in the actual slaying of the man, but that he and Taylor divided the money between them which they got by the old man's death.

Carmack is married and according to the officers he made the confession in the presence of his wife, who wept bitterly through the scene as he told of the deliberate plan to murder and rob the aged storekeeper and of his fiendish carrying out practically exactly as it was planned.

Officers are searching tonight for Taylor and believe that from the accurate description given them by Carmack that they will have no trouble in identifying him.

FLYING OVER THE SEA, BIRDMAN LOSES LIFE

London, June 23.—An aviator, Fairbairns, was drowned off Shoeburyness this evening. He had flown from Brooklands and was experimenting with a new type of machine with which he projected a trans-Atlantic flight in July. Fairbairns fell into the sea from a height of 1,000 feet, and rank with a friend who was cruising in the vicinity was able to rescue him. The machine was of 200-horse power, was completely inclosed and provided with a glass conning tower.

AMERICUS POLICE CHIEF HAS CHANCE TO RECOVER

Americus, Ga., June 23.—William C. Barrow, the aged police chief who was shot Saturday by William Redding, a negro, who was later lynched, has a chance for recovery. Although he is 72 years of age, his constitution is strong, and attending physicians are hopeful today. Jim Stalling, a negro who was shot by Redding while the latter was attempting to escape, died today from the effects of his wound.

After Redding was lynched his body was soaked in oil and burned in the presence of five thousand people. Many young women took part in the orgie. No effort has been made to arrest the members of the mob.

Father's Abcessed Tooth Kept Him From Sucking Snake Poison From Son

Savannah, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—While picking huckleberries with his 12-year-old brother near Bethesda today, 6-year-old Edwar dJackwson was bitten on the leg by a 4-foot rattlesnake. Because the boy's father had an abscessed tooth he was afraid to suck the blood from the wound, and there was some delay in giving the boy treatment.

The father rolled the boy in a wheelbarrow to Bethesda, where Superintendent Chaplin cut the wound open and sucked the blood. A physician was summoned from Savannah, and the rattler's victim was brought to the Savannah hospital for further treatment. His condition is critical, although physicians say there is a chance for his recovery.

WILSONS WERE WEDDED 28 YEARS AGO TODAY

Event Occurred at Savannah June 24, 1885—Anniversary Observed at White House.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 23.—(Special.)—President and Mrs. Wilson will observe the 28th anniversary of their wedding tomorrow, the event having occurred in Savannah, Ga., June 24, 1885. But there will be no formal observance, and the president expects to be at his desk as usual.

When the wedding occurred this short paragraph was printed in The Morning News of Savannah:

"Miss Ellie Lou (Ellen Louise) Axson, daughter of the late Rev. Edward Axson, of this city, and Mr. Wilson, son of the Rev. J. R. Wilson, of Wilmington, N. C., were married last evening at the residence of the Rev. I. S. K. Axson, pastor of the Independent Presbyterian church. The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom a father and the bride's grandfather. The nuptials were celebrated quietly, only the intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties being present."

President and Mrs. Wilson and their daughters expect to leave Washington on Friday for Cornish, N. H., to stay over the Fourth of July. The president will return to the capitol on July 7.

COTTON SEED CRUSHERS OPPOSE REVISION BILL

Chicago, June 23.—The Interstate Cottonseed Crushers' association, said to represent almost the entire cotton mill industry in the country, at its annual convention tonight adopted a resolution protesting against the proposed removal of camel's hair press cloth from the free list and placing it on the dutiable list at 15 per cent ad valorem.

The resolution stated that this removal, while allowing silk belting cloth used in flour milling to remain on the free list, "is a discrimination against a distinctly southern industry, in favor of a northern one."

A copy of the protest was telegraphed to all senators representing cotton-growing states.

PAGE TELLS BRITONS OF THE "NEW SOUTH"

London, June 23.—The American ambassador, Walter H. Page, spoke at the Royal Geographical society's reception tonight on "The Development of the New South." William F. Cresson, second secretary of the American embassy, spoke on "The Future of Irrigation in the West." Professor Davis, of Harvard, was also among the speakers. Lord Curzon, of Kedleston, presided.

REVISION OF TAXES CENTERS INTEREST

Prominent Legislators From All Parts of State Give Remedies for Present Condition of Georgia Finance.

That tax revision and a straightening out of the state's finances would be the most urgent subject for legislation this year seemed to be almost the unanimous opinion of members of both branches of the general assembly who were interviewed upon the question yesterday.

The only divergence of opinion seemed to be as to whether revision should be attempted this summer or whether it should be referred to a joint committee of the houses or to a state commission appointed by the governor to investigate during the recess, and final action deferred till next year. Those who seemed most in earnest about the subject were inclined to favor immediate revision.

Remedies Are Proposed.

As is already known, Representatives F. A. Lipscomb of Clarke, E. T. Moon of Troup and O. T. Gower of Crisp have been giving much thought to the problem, and each has a remedy that he thinks ought to be applied. Mr. Gower favors the appointment of a joint committee of both houses to prepare a measure of reform during the recess to be reported to the next session of the legislature.

Another member, who had not so far been heard from, but who has prepared a bill on the subject, is E. H. McMichael, of Marion. Mr. McMichael will introduce his bill as early as possible after the houses meet, providing for the creation of the office of tax discoverer in each county. This official he will have appointed by the ordinary or the judge of the superior court, and will remove him as far from political influences as possible. It shall be his duty to go into each militia district after the tax returns have been made and dig up property that has not been placed on the tax books. He shall also inquire into the returns made to see that they have been fair and just. He shall have the right to summon any tax delinquent before a board of arbitrators who shall compel him to make a fair and just return.

The Alabama System.

Mr. McMichael says that a system of this sort has been in vogue in Alabama, and has resulted in bringing millions of dollars' worth of property to the tax books. By having the tax discoverers remunerated by commissions from taxes on hidden property which they put on the tax assessors' boks, their vigilance would be secured, he says. He would have the tax discoverers of the various congressional districts meet together at cer-

WILSON TO FORCE CURRENCY REFORM THROUGH CONGRESS

President's Address Convinces Members of the House and Senate That He's Resolved on Money Legislation.

IMMEDIATE ACTIVITY EXPECTED IN CONGRESS

Wilson Insists Need for Reform Is Urgent—Declares Money Reform Necessary For Full Benefits of Tariff Revision to Be Realized.

Washington, June 23.—A fixed determination to have currency legislation passed at this session of congress was accepted by members of the house and senate today as President Wilson's text for the currency message, which he personally presented to congress assembled in joint session in the house chamber. Both democrats and republicans saw in the carefully worded appeal of the president an earnest conviction that the money situation must be dealth with before congress adjourns, and preparations were made to begin committee work on the administration bill which will be introduced in the house by Representative Glass and in the senate by Senator Owen.

From the rostrum of the house chamber the president, in carefully modulated tones that carried his words to every corner of the chamber, read the brief message he had prepared. Crowded galleries, cabinet officials, senators and representatives, democrats and republicans, sat in a tense silence as the president, with forceful earnestness, told them:

"It is plainly clear that it is our duty to supply the new banking and currency system the country needs, and that it will immediately need it more than ever.

"We must act now, whatever the sacrifice to ourselves. I should be recreant to my deepest convictions of public obligations did I not impress it upon you with solemn and urgent insistence."

Second Defiance of Century Precedent.

The occasion was the president's second defiance of the custom of 100 years, which sent presidential messages, long, dull documents, to be drowned in weary congressmen by a hoarse-voiced clerk, and the affair moved smoothly. The senate and house gathered in the house chamber, where the galleries already had been crowded and the members chatted while they awaited the president's coming. The cabinet officers, except Secretary of State Bryan and Secretary of the Navy Daniels, who, with their wives, occupied gallery seats, had places on the floor of the house.

A joint committee, led by Majority Leader Underwood and Senator Kern, met the president and escorted him to the clerk's desk on the rostrum. Mr. Wilson seemingly was less nervous than when he first faced the big assemblage of legislators to deliver his tariff address. As he spoke the gathering sat in attentive silence, marking carefully the points which the president's diction and intonation forced on them. When Mr. Wilson had concluded there was a burst of applause, and he bowed his way out, after shaking hands with Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark.

Immediate Activity Expected.

At both house and senate ends of the capitol and among both democrats and republicans tonight the conviction was deeply fixed that the president's solemn and earnest insistence on currency legislation would result in immediate activity in the legislative bodies. Chairman Glass, of the house banking and currency committee, and Chairman Owen, of the senate committee, both conferred with the president after he delivered his address, and both prepared for the early introduction of the administration currency bill, which now is being revised in some minor feature of phraseology.

The bill will go into both houses this week.

The first authoritative statement on the president's message was critical and came from Republican Leader Mann, of the house.

He said the message was a fine "example of classical English, but there is nothing more to it unless it be considered as a threat that patronage will be withheld until a banking and currency bill is passed."

Representative Mann criticised the bill as "stolen from the Aldrich monetary report with a few radical provisions taken from the Bryan platform mixed in."

On the senate side many republicans were of the opinion that the president's message was a flat declaration that congress must act on the currency question. They believe it sets forth the president's position as being so positive on that point that he would call another extra session of congress, if necessary, to dispose of the matter.

As soon as the bill is introduced, both senate and the house banking and currency committees will get down to work and early reports on both sides are expected. Senator Owen expects to put the bill in Thursday.

Wilson Wants Emergency Currency.

The president made it clear in informal talks with callers today that he regarded the Owen-Glass bill as primarily an instrument through which an emergency currency of $300,000,000 would be obtained. The provision to retire the 2 per cent bonds which now secure $714,000,000 of currency had been omitted fro mthe bill, according to information at the white house, chiefly because congress had been perfected to substitute this amount of currency, which the volume of business indicated ought not to be withdrawn. It was pointed out that such an elaborate machinery would be required to refund the 2 per cent bonds at the same time that the $500,000,000 issue of federal reserve notes was being supervised by the federal reserve board. The president indicated that he felt this was a great problem in itself and he has taken the view that for the present the subject of retiring the bonds should be treated independently.

Criticisms of the bill that have reached administration officials from bankers center largely on the absence of any provision for the retirement of the bond secured currency. Representative Glass, who conferred briefly with the president before the latter went to the capitol, is preparing to champion a provision for the retirement of the 2 per cent bonds by refunding them with 3 per cent.

President Wilson's Message.

President Wilson's address to the house and senate was as follows:

"Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, Gentlemen of the Congress:

"It is under a sense of compulsion of what seems to me a clear and imperative duty that I have a second time this session sought the privilege of addressing you in person. I know, of course, that the heated season of the year is upon us, that work in these chambers and in the committee rooms is likely to become a burden as the session lengthens, and that every consideration of personal convenience and personal comfort, perhaps, in the cases of some of us, considerations of personal health even, dictate an early conclusion of the deliberations of the session; but there are occasions of public duty when these things must be made to privately seem very small; when the work to be done is so pressing and so fraught with big consequence that we know that we are not at liberty to weigh against it any point of personal sacrifice. We are now in the presence of such an occasion. It is absolutely imperative that we should give the business men of this country a banking and currency system by means of which they can make use of the freedom of enterprise and of individual initiative which we are about to bestow upon them.

About to Set Them Free.

"We are about to set them free, we must not leave them without the tools of action when they are free. We are about to set them free by removing the trammels of the protective tariff. Ever since the civil war they have waited for this emancipation and for the free opportunities it will bring with it. It has been reserved for us to give it to them. Some fell in love, indeed with the slothful security of their dependence upon the government; some took advantage of the shelter of the nursery to set up a mimic mastery of their own within its walls. Now both the tonic and the discipline of liberty and maturity are to ensue. There will be some readjustment of purpose and point of view. There will follow a period of expansion and new enterprise, freshly conceived. It is for us to determine now whether it shall be rapid and facile and of easy accomplishment. This it cannot be unless the resourceful business men who are to deal with the new circumstances are to have at hand and ready for use the instrumentalities and convenliances of free enterprise which independent men need when acting on their own initiative.

Constructive Work Demanded.

"It is not enough to strike the shackles from business. The duty of statesmanship is not negative merely. It is constructive also. We must supply what new conditions understand what business needs and that we know how to supply it. No man, however casual and superficial his observation of the conditions now prevailing in the country, can fail to see that one of the chief things business needs now, and will need increasingly as it gains in scope and vigor in the years immediately ahead of us, is the proper means by which readily to vitalize its credit, corporate and individual, and its originative brains.

What will it profit us to be free if we are not to have the best and most accessible instrumentalities of commerce and enterprise? What will it profit us to be quit of one kind of control only to remain in the grip of another and more effective kind? How are we to gain and keep the confidence of the business community unless we show that we know how both to aid and to protect it? What shall we say if we make fresh restrictions necessary and also make it very difficult by leaving all else except the tariff just as we found it? The tyrannies of business, big and little, lie within the field of credit. We know that. Shall we not act upon the knowledge? Do we not know how to act upon it? If a man cannot make his assets available at pleasure, his assets of capacity and character and resource, what satisfaction is it to him to see opportunity beckoning to him on every hand, when others have the keys of credit in their pockets and treat them as all but their own private possessions? It is perfectly clear that it is our duty to supply new banking and currency system the country needs, and that it will immediately need it more than ever.

The Only Question.

"The only question is, when shall we supply it—now, or later, after the demands shall have become irresistible that we were so dull and so slow? Shall we hasten to change the tariff laws and then by legends blood making it possible and easy for the country to take advantage of the change? There can be only one answer to that question. We must act now at the whatever sacrifice to ourselves. It is a duty which the circumstances forbid us to postpone. I should be recreant to my deepest convictions of public obligation did I not press it upon you with solemn and urgent insistence.

"The principles upon which we should act are also clear. The country has sought and found the path in this matter within the last few years —sees it more clearly now than it ever saw it before—much more clearly than when we last legislate in proposals on the subject were made. We must have a currency not rigid as now, but readily elastically responsive to sound credit, the expanding and contracting credits of everyday transactions, the normal ebb and flow of personal and corporate dealings. Our banking laws must mobilize reserves; must not permit the concentration anywhere in the hands of the control of the resources of the country or their use for speculative purposes in such volume as to hinder or impede or stand in the way of other more legitimate more fruitful uses.

Government Must Control.

"And the control of the system of banking and of issue which our new laws are to set up must be public, not private, must be vested in the government itself, so that the banks may be the instruments, not the masters, of business and of individual enterprise and initiative.

"The committees of the congress to which legislation of this character is referred have devoted careful and dispassionate study to the means of accomplishing these objects. They have honored me by consulting me. They are ready to suggest action. I have come to you, as the head of the government and the responsible leader of the party in power, to urge action now, while there is time to serve the country deliberately and as we should, in a clear air of common counsel. I appeal to you with a deep conviction of duty. I believe that you share this conviction. I therefore appeal to you with confidence. I am at your service without reserve to play my part in any way you may call upon me to play it in this great enterprise of exigent reform which it will dignify and distinguish us to perform and discredit us to neglect."

Bankers Consider Measure.

New York, June 23.—The currency commission of the American Bankers' association held a meeting here today to study the administration's currency bill, considering particularly the sections they consider objectionable. Present were bankers from this city, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Des Moines and other cities.

A Barton Hepburn, president of the Chase National bank, of this city, chairman of the committee, said after the meeting that in view of an announcement that the bill as it now stands is only tentative, it was not the assembly's intention to criticise it, but that a protest against it would be entered should it be introduced for passage in the same form as it was made public. Mr. Hepburn remarked that the commission was opposed to the measure as it stood.

It is understood that the commission today drafted a memorandum, setting forth its position for submission to the chairman of the senate and house committees having the currency matter in charge.

CALLS ON M'REYNOLDS TO GET OUT OF OFFICE

Special Agent Attacks Attorney General About California Cases—Probe Asked.

Washington, June 23.—Attorney General McReynolds will make a full report to President Wilson, at the president's request, upon the causes that moved him to direct postponements of the Diggs-Caminetti white slave cases and the trials of two directors of the Western Fuel company, the basis of the resignation of United States Attorney John L. McNab, of San Francisco, and his sensational charges against the head of the department of justice.

Demands Removal of McReynolds.

One of the days most remarkable developments in the unusual episode was the receipt by the president of a telegram from Clayton Herrington, special agent of the department of justice, in charge of the federal bureau of investigation at San Francisco, demanding the removal from office of Attorney General McReynolds. Officials tonight declared that the question of summary action in Herrington's case probably would be taken up by the attorney general.

The department of justice was in ignorance of the special agent's protest until its publication this afternoon. It was then called to the attention of the attorney general. Early in the day, before Herrington's action became known at the department, officials were somewhat mystified and later amused by the receipt of a telegram from another special agent applying for the "vacancy" at San Francisco.

Looking for Successor to McNab.

While no action has yet been taken on the McNab resignation, white house officials let it be known that the president was looking for a successor. They stated that the character of the new district attorney would soon show whether there could be any manipulation of the case by the department of justice through political influences, as charged by District Attorney McNab.

Steps today preliminary to a final determination of the controversy were many. The president said his first intimation of the situation was gleaned from the newspapers, and declared he would wait for the attorney general's report before determining his course.

The episode found an echo in the halls of congress, where Representatives Kahn, republican, of California, and Hinshaw, progressive, of Illinois, introduced in the house resolutions, one calling for official papers in the case, and the other for an investigation by the judiciary committee. Representative Mann issued a statement declaring that President Wilson should support Attorney Commissioner Caminetti on the ground that he had "used both his political and official influence to prevent his son from being brought to a speedy trial."

Mann Attacks Caminetti.

In his formal statement Leader Mann said:

"The republicans will call on the attorney general through a house resolution for a statement of all the facts in his possession relating to the Caminetti case under the Mann white slave act. Mr. Caminetti, the father, has recently been appointed commissioner general of immigration because of his prominence in democratic politics and not for his efficiency. Mr. Caminetti, the son, is under indictment for violation of the Mann act. The only way the son can be acquitted is by tampering with the case.

"The influence of the new commissioner general of immigration and his political friends already have affected the present administration in this case. If President Wilson believes in the Mann act and does his duty, he will appoint a new commissioner general of immigration on the ground that the present commissioner general has used both his political and official influence to prevent his son from being brought to a speedy trial under the Mann act for one of the most horrible of all offenses—the ruination of a young girl. Has the president the nerve to do this? I don't know."

Responsibility Assumed.

Interest here in the incident centered largely around the Caminetti-Diggs case, postponement of which Secretary Wilson, of the department of labor, yesterday took responsibility.

Assistant Attorney General Harr tonight assumed full responsibility for the order to Attorney McNab to postpone the trial of Robert Bruce and Sidney V. Smith, directors of the Western Fuel company, on charges of customs coal frauds.

This postponement, mentioned in Mr. McNab's telegram of resignation to the president, was ordered, declared Mr. Harr, to prevent a possible miscarriage of justice.

"FORGET AND FORGIVE" ADVICE OF FAIRBANKS

Omaha, Neb., June 23.—"Forget and forgive" was the keynote of a speech delivered by former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks at a banquet tendered him by 300 republican leaders of Nebraska. The gathering was fairly representative of both wings of the party in this state.

Mr. Fairbanks, speaking of the future, said:

"Now and then we have heard it said that the republican party has ended its career; that it is a party of the past rather than of the future. Such prophecy is not new. We have heard it proclaimed in other days.

"Circumstances which unfortunately led to party division a year ago no longer exists.

"Republicans, that is to say those who believe in the political doctrine of the republican party, are largely in the majority throughout the country. I have no doubt whatever that the logic of events will bring them into co-operation again. This result cannot be accomplished by coercion; it must come naturally by the exercise of a spirit of a tolerance and patience; old scores should be forgotten; as President McKinley happily put it, 'it does not do to keep books in politics.'"

RAISE FUNDS TO HELP PARDONED PRISONERS

Efforts to raise a $5,000 fund for the benefit of released prisoners from the federal penitentiary have interested prominent Atlanta society women who are sponsors for a subscription dance which the public is urged to attend in Lakewood park tonight. One feature of tonight's dance will be the awarding of a $50 cushion and candy to the most popular girls at the affair.

This function will be the first of several entertainments for the benefit of the released prisoners and meets the hearty indorsement of teachers in prison circle who see the advantage of such a fund which will enable them to hold on to men after they are pardoned, paroled or unconditionally released from the penitentiary until they are set on their feet.

REVISION OF TAXES CENTERS INTEREST

tain intervals to adjust tax assessments between the counties. He proposes to create a sort of state convention of these officials, made up of one or more delegates from each congressional district, to bring about tax equalization for the state-at-large.

Favors Action This Year.

Representative McMichael is highly in favor of immediate action on the question of tax revision.

Another member of the legislature who regards tax revision as the most urgent question for legislation this year is Senator J. T. Hixon, of the thirty-seventh. Senator Hixon said:

"The system of voluntary contributions which is all that our present system of tax gathering amounts to is almost unthinkable as the serious plan adopted by a great state. It works untold injustice to our citizens, encourages dishonesty in tax returns and is largely responsible for the present chaotic condition of our state finances.

Senator W. E. Spinks, of the thirty-eighth, was in substantial agreement with his neighbor of the thirty-seventh as to the vital importance of tax legislation. He said:

"I have not made up my mind yet as to whether the problem can best be solved at this session of the legislature or whether it should be referred to a committee for investigation during the recess, but that some serious remedial legislation on the subject must come from this general assembly I think all are agreed."

Blackburn Talks.

Representative R. B. Blackburn, of Fulton, is also convinced that tax reform must come from this legislature.

"The state needs more revenue than it is getting," he said. "If we cannot get it by the readjustment and equalization of tax assessments we will have to raise the tax rate. That is all there is to it. Personally, I am inclined to think that a mistake was made when a constitutional limit of 5 mills was placed upon the tax rate.

"Understand that I am not advocating an increase in the tax burdens to the people of Georgia, but I believe that you will be far more successful in holding down appropriations when you take off the tax rate limit. When those who are advocating increased appropriations are given to understand that every increase voted means that much added to the tax burden which their constituents will have to bear, you will see that they will go very much slower in their advocacy of increases."

Other representatives who declared their belief that tax legislation was the paramount issue before this house were Alonzo Persons, of DeKalb; J. F. Cheney of Cobb and R. N. Hardeman of Jefferson.

Outsiders Urge Action.

Prominent politicians of state-wide reputation who are not members of the present general assembly were also agreed that tax legislation was the most important matter for legislative action this year. Said Judge W. R. Jones, of Meriwether:

"Tax legislation, involving as it does the question of the state's finances, is the most important matter for the general assembly to consider this year. That and the question of refunding the state's bonded debt. This much should be referred, however, in connection with any legislation on the subject, that the state's financial difficulties can be relieved only by a most rigid resolution adhered to on the part of legislators that appropriations shall not exceed the revenue of the state.

DAUGHTER TO BE USED AGAINST HER MOTHER

Little Mary Scheiber to Tell How Mother Shot Father in Presence of Paramour.

Chicago, June 23.—Mary Scheiber, 12 years old, sought by the authorities at Memphis as a witness against her mother, Mrs. Margaret Scheiber, accused of shooting her husband, was located last night on the north side at the home of her half sister, Mrs. Leon Jones. The child is said to have one time prevented her mother from attacking her father.

According to the Memphis prosecutor, the girl was smuggled out of Memphis on June 13, taken across the river at night and carried in an automobile to Marion, Ark. There trace of her was lost.

Mrs. Scheiber is charged with having killed her husband three months ago after trailing him to the apartment of a woman.

Mother Takes Stand.

Memphis, Tenn., June 23.—Mrs. Margaret L. Scheiber, on trial charged with the murder of her husband, Augustus Scheiber, in the apartments of Mrs. Lillian A. Howell last March, took the witness stand in her own defense today. She evidently was laboring under a severe mental strain, and several times court proceedings were halted until the witness could be revived with smelling salts.

The accused woman declared her life with Schieber had been happy until the latter met Mrs. Howell in 1911. She told of his trying to force her to accept the company of Mrs. Howell, and stated that in the three weeks preceding his death Schieber was at home only two nights.

Mrs. Scheiber found her husband in the flats of Mrs. Howell and opened fire on him. He is said to have been partly disrobed.

The shooting created a sensation at the time because of the prominence of Scheiber in the club and social life of the city.

Mary Scheiber is considered a material witness in the case, and was spirited away, it is said, by friends of her mother. Search has since been made for her by the state authorities.

She will probably be brought to Memphis and placed upon the stand.

FRANK'S TRIAL SET FOR NEXT MONDAY

Indications Are Case Will Begin on That Day—Jury Panel Not Yet Drawn by Judge Roan.

The trial of Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil factory, now under indictment for the murder of Mary Phagan on April 26 in the factory, has been definitely set for next Monday. This was the announcement of Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey last night after he had been working upon the court calendar for the coming week.

Solicitor Dorsey announced Sunday, upon his arrival from New York city, where he had spent the past two weeks, that he intended to set the case for that date, unless something unforeseen should come up. While he did not complete his calendar on Monday, he reached the Frank case and placed it definitely upon the docket.

The defense has indicated that it is ready to go trial, and it appears now that the case will actually be taken up on that day. Should it be postponed it will be after a showing has been made in open court and a postponement granted by Judge L. S. Roan, presiding in the criminal division of the superior court, where Frank's fate will be decided.

Panel Not Yet Drawn.

The panel of venitremen from which the jury to try Frank will be selected is expected to be drawn some time today or Wednesday. This is the duty of Judge Roan. It was rumored that the panel would be drawn from the jury list Monday afternoon, but this was not done. The list of prospective jurymen will not be made public after the drawing, and only after their names are called when the trial has started and the task of picking the jury is begun, will it be officially known who are the men who compose it.

It is expected that a special venire will be drawn, containing the names of about 150 citizens, as it is expected that many names will be stricken off the list before lawyers for the state and the defense are finally satisfied.

Picking Jury Important.

Both Attorney Luther Z. Rosser and Attorney Reuben R. Arnold have wide reputations for their skill in choosing the jury, and Solicitor Dorsey has also made this a study in the course of his criminal prosecution, so that it is believed that this will be one of the longest and most important features of the trial. It is expected that it will take one or more days to choose the jury.

Since the return of Solicitor Dorsey to Atlanta he has been busily engaged in working on the case, despite the fact that he has announced that the case is ready as far as the state is concerned.

On Monday he and his assistant, E. A. Stephens, were in conference with J. M. Gantt, who was one of the first white men to be arrested as a suspect. Gantt was formerly an employee of the pencil factory and, according to his testimony, he returned to the factory to get an old pair of shoes on the day that the girl was killed.

He appeared before the coroner's inquest and also before the grand jury, following his release from custody. He stated that when he returned to the factory that Frank was preparing to leave and sent Newt Lee, the night-watchman, upstairs with him to get his shoes. He was questioned closely as to Frank's demeanor at that time.

The solicitor also had James Conley, the negro sweeper, who has declared in a statement that Frank paid him to aid in hiding the girl's body, before him on the day after his return.

Use of Electric Treatment May Cure Little Girl Who Ate of Colored Crayons

Dr. Simon L. Katzoff, who yesterday visited little Mary Tribble, whose mysterious case of supposed poisoning from eating colored crayon has baffled her physicians, stated last night that he will administer electric treatment to the little girl today to increase her circulation, hoping thereby to give her more strength and to relieve somewhat the paralysis in her side.

Dr. Katzoff called at the Tribble home last night to administer the electric treatment, but in the absence of Dr. Stone, who has been attending the little girl, he decided to postpone the treatment until today. The giving of this treatment, said Dr. Katzoff last night, will be dependant upon the consent of the entire family and Dr. Stone.

Little Mary remained last night in the same state of coma in which she has remained for so many long hours. But appeared a little strengthened, and the physicians are not without a slight hope for her recovery.

Two Bankruptcy Petitions.

Two voluntary petitions in bankruptcy were filed with the clerk of the federal court yesterday, one by Frank J. Cohen, a salesman, and the other by L. A. Dozier, a stock salesman, both giving Atlanta as their residence. The Cohen papers indicate liabilities of $1,608.11, with $201 assets. Dozier's schedule shows debts of $710.80, with property valued at $335.25.

EXEMPTION CLAUSE NOT LIKED BY WILSON

But He Signs Sunday Civil Bill. Exemption Clause Bad in Principle.

Washington, June 23.—President Wilson today signed the sundry civil appropriation bill, with a statement declaring that he would have vetoed, if he could, the provision in it exempting labor unions and farmers' organizations from prosecution under a certain $300,000 fund designated for operation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The president characterized the exemption as "unjustifiable in character and principle," but called attention to the fact that the department of justice possessed other funds with which to enforce the anti-trust law.

The urgent need of various government departments for funds appropriated by the bill influenced the president to speedy action on the measure. The bill carries $116,000,000 in appropriations and was vetoed by Mr. Taft aMrch 4, because of the labor exemption clause. When the bill was reintroduced and passed by both houses in identical form by the present congress, this provision was the subject of sharp debate.

In his statement the president said:

"I have signed this bill because I can do so without, in fact, limiting the opportunity or the power of the department of justice to prosecute violations of the law, by whomsoever committed.

"If I could have separated from the rest of the bill the item which authorized the expenditure by the department of justice of a special sum of $300,000 for the prosecution of violations of the anti-trust law, I would have vetoed that item, because it places upon the expenditure a limitation which is, in my opinion, unjustifiable in character and principle. But I could not separate it.

"I do not understand that the limitation was intended as either an amendment on an interpretation of the anti-trust law, but merely as an expression of the congress—a very emphatic opinion, backed by an overwhelming majority of the house of representatives, and a large number of the senate, but not intended to touch anything but the expenditures of a single small additional fund.

"I can assure the country that this item will neither limit nor in any way embarrass the action of the department of justice. Other appropriations supply the department with abundant funds to enforce the law."

WINGFIELD APPOINTED SUCCESSOR TO BEST

Setting at rest rumors which have created considerable interest in local railroad circles to the effect that one of several local men would be appointed to succeed G. L. Best, resigned, as superintendent of the dining car service of the Southern railway, with headquarters in Charlotte, N. C., comes the official announcement that J. H. Wingfield has received the appointment.

Among Atlantans reported to be in line for the place was E. H. Rosencrans, well-known in the Atlanta district of the Southern's dining car service.

BURWELL LEADING FOR SPEAKERSHIP

ty-eight senators who had unqualifiedly pledged themselves in writing to support him in his race for the presidency of the senate. As this insures his election to that office beyond question we are naturally jubilant and elated over the situation. Of the senators who had arrived in the city during the day, three who had not committed themselves, also definitely agreed with us to vote for Anderson, thereby bringing his vote up to thirty-one, and of those who are yet to arrive we are confident we will secure several more votes.

"The caucus was attended by all the senators supporting Anderson who had arrived in the city and letters and telegrams were received and read from all the others pledging anew their unqualified support and vote.

"From the talk circulating around the Kimball house it is evident that Judge Allen will withdraw from the race he and his friends seeing the hopelessness of his position."

Vinson Speaks for Allen.

Judge Allen's friends did not appear to be a bit perturbed over the showing made by the Anderson following at the caucus. To show where they stood, Mr. Vinson issued the following statement in behalf of Judge Allen:

"The friends of Judge Allen are more confident than ever of victory. He will receive no less than twenty-eight and probably twenty-nine votes on the first ballot. The famous list of senators' Mr. Anderson has claimed as for him has gone to smash. Four senators reported for Anderson have announced positively their intention to vote for Judge Allen, since their coming to Atlanta and learning of the big corporate and manufacturing interests behind Anderson. Others will follow. But whether they do or not Judge Allen has the race won. He is his own boss and belongs to no big interest."

It is not certain whether there will be any further entrants into the senatorial race than the two named. Some time ago it was said that Senator D. M. Tyson, of the second, would be in the running, but practically nothing has been heard from him of late and it could not be ascertained last night whether or not he had reached town. There was a rumor to the effect that Judge J. L. Sweat, of the fifth, would be placed in nomination, but this was denied by the Anderson men. It was said that Judge Sweat had withdrawn from the race some time ago and that he was counted on to vote for Judge Allen.

Pro Tem Fight.

Three of the candidates for the speakership of the house were almost as active in their canvassing Monday as the speakership candidates. They were E. H. McMichael, of Marion—Dr. A. S. J. Stovall, of Elbert, and John P. Cheney, of Cobb. The fourth candidate, John C. Foster, of Floyd, had not to a late hour Monday night put in his appearance. The race seems to be close between Dr. Stovall and Mr. McMichael, with the odds favoring the last named.

CALLS DOCTOR TO WIFE AND THEN DROPS DEAD

Apparently in the best of health, after returning to Atlanta on a pleasure trip from Gainesville, W. B. Henson dropped dead at 9 o'clock Monday morning just after summoning a physician to see his wife, who was ill.

Complaining of no illness and apparently in the best of spirits except for his concern over his wife's indisposition, Mr. Henson left the telephone after calling the physician, and a few moments later he was found dead in an adjoining room of his residence at 28 Clark street. He is survived by his wife and four children. Funeral and interment will be announced later.

Hearne Sues Southern.

In the United States court yesterday Judge Newman presiding, a suit brought bq J. H. Hearne against the Southern railway for $10,000 was begun, Hewlett and Dennis appearing for the plaintiff, while McDaniel and Black looked after the defendant company. In the petition presented the plaintiff, J. H. Hearne, claiming to be a resident of Fulton county, asserts that he was in the service of the Southern railway during the month of June, 1912, and that on the 15th day of that month, while in the discharge of his duties in the Inman yards, was permanently injured by the road, and that the injuries were caused by neglect of the defendant company.

Escape of "Goat" Holliday With Bride Turns Tables On Surprise Wedding Party

MRS. J. WARE HOLLIDAY

A surprise wedding party in the very midst of its merry-making met with a big surprise last night when the bride and groom quietly made their escape, leaving the guests chagrined with rice bags unspilled.

"Goat" Holliday, famed as the star first baseman of the Tech team, and Miss Lydia McBride, one of the most beautiful and popular members of Atlanta's younger social set, were the happy couple.

Not satisfied with springing a surprise on the whole city of Atlanta in their sudden and unannounced wedding, the bride and groom conspired to outwit their friends, and within ten minutes after Dr. Hugh K. Walker had said his "I pronounce thee," the couple had slipped into an auto and sped away toward the terminal station, leaving their friends to wonder over their sudden disappearance.

The wedding took place at 8:15 o'clock Monday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. George Breitenbucher, 124 Sunset avenue. Only the immediate members of the family, six girl chums of Miss McBride and a few frat mates of Mr. Holliday were present. They had been warned in advance of what was to happen on Monday evening, but the strict instructions were to tell nobody. So they all said they were just going to a little evening party on Sunset avenue. Nobly had they striven to keep the plans from being known.

J. Ware Holliday—that's the groom's real name, though all his schoolmates know him only as "Goat"—is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Holliday, of 11 West Baker street. He is only 20 years old. The beautiful young bride is only 17. For over a year, however, the romance has been in progress.

The bride and groom have gone to Waycross for their honeymoon, where Mr. Holliday is playing with the Waycross ball team. It is said, however, that they're coming back to Atlanta within the next few months, and that he intends to enter the newspaper business here, and make Atlanta his home.

The convention will be in session Wednesday and Thursday.

PHYSICIANS ACCUSED OF CRUELTY TO DOGS

Philadelphia, June 23.—Five physicians of the University of Pennsylvania, who are charged with cruelty to dogs in vivisection work, entered $500 bail here today. Three, including Dr. Allen J. Smith, former dean of the medical school, and brother of the provost, appeared personally before a magistrate and waived hearing. The other two were represented by counsel.

While the magistrate was accepting bail a score of prominent society women, who are back of the prosecution, waited in a police station eager to testify against the doctors. They say they had been told the hearing would be held in the station house.

The women were indignant when told that the case had been disposed of by the magistrate, sitting in his office two blocks away.

The physicians deny any cruelty was practiced.

CHEWING GUM BARRED TO CHICAGO CO-EDS

Chicago, June 23.—Co-eds at the University of Chicago today were inclined to pout at the new order which, in effect, places the ban on chewing gum. Many of them regard the order as an undue infringement of personal rights. There was a rumor that several "blind pigs" where the chicle product may be obtained, were already in operation in co-ed dormitories.

The order of the board of governors took the form of eliminating gum from articles sold at the university bookstore.

A PEOPLE'S LEGISLATURE.

Tomorrow there will assemble in Atlanta for the first time in several years a legislature almost wholly free of the restrictions and bitterness of partisan division.

As in every law-making body, there will be little swirls and eddies of opposing factions.

But the feud that for several years past has split Georgia into two rival camps did not determine the choice of this legislature.

Members are absolutely free to act and think not with regard to how their program will affect the fortunes of the Brown or the Smith camp, but entirely with reference to the welfare of the people of Georgia.

Many vital issues will require settlement. It is, indeed, doubtful if in many years any general assembly has faced responsibilities so grave and pressing.

In the face of such a situation, it is a subject for congratulation that the acrimony of partisan quarrels cannot obscure the merits of issues.

In the truest sense of the term, the legislature that meets tomorrow should be a people's legislature.

PLUG UP THIS ARTERY.

A trained, efficient and congenial citizenry is the life-blood of a nation. An artery of the United States has been punctured by the Dominion of Canada. Over the border flow steadily tides of educated and energetic Americans. Speaker Champ Clark recently estimated that the money loss to this country from Canadian emigration amounted yearly to $123,652,000. What is the lure? Cheap lands, and gaudy pictures of a Golconda that can never be realized.

The southern states of America can plug up this artery. They can keep here in this country the life-blood that is going to nourish another nation.

Every American who reaches the age of maturity represents a big investment on part of society. City, town, state and federal governments have spent large sums on protecting his health and property, on educating him, on training him in democratic institutions and teaching him good citizenship. The immigrant we receive from abroad must learn all these things. That involves huge expenditure and further loss in the delay that ensues before he reaches the efficiency of the American who has left his country.

If the railroads and commercial bodies of the south will get busy, a majority of these vanishing Americans can be kept at home. They will be brought to the south, where they will continue to help good government in this country and to pile up dividends for themselves and the section. The south does not boast the huge vacant tracts of Canada. What is better, it has small and cheap tracts innumerable, tracts far more fertile than those in the dominion. The southern soil is not a one-crop soil. Wheat is the dominion's main reliance. Upon the acres of this section may be raised almost every food product. Cattle breeding is in its infancy. Opportunities are uncharted.

What is need is to take this knowledge in intelligible fashion to these emigrating Americans. The south can and should save these citizens to the nation. It should also save to itself those of its own citizens who are annually tempted away by misleading colonization bait.

FIGHTING RABIES.

By demonstrating the practicability of wiping out hydrophobia, Ware county and Waycross may inaugurate a movement that will be of service to all Georgia. W. J. Lowenstein, chairman of the public safety committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, is in receipt of correspondence from the president of the Waycross Board of Trade, W. E. Sirmans, Dr. M. M. Johnson, of Waycross, and others, indicating unusual activity in the elimination of this dangerous disease. President Sirmans writes Mr. Lowenstein that "we have had two deaths here recently from hydrophobia, and over twenty people have been bitten here by mad dogs during this year." It was a report of this nature that led Mr. Lowenstein to write to President Sirmans and Dr. Johnson, health officer, suggesting that, as the disease seemed especially prevalent in and around Ware, restrictive measures would set a wholesome example to the entire state.

The public health and sanitation committee has recommended to the board of trade of Waycross that it go on record as in favor of preventive measures. The matter will also be taken up at the approaching convention of the Eleventh District Medical association at St. Simons island.

As Mr. Lowenstein points out, there has not been a case of hydrophobia in England in eleven years. Proper and persistent precautions will eliminate the disease from this state. Mr. Lowenstein deserves credit for his activity in a matter of such vital public interest.

INEBRIETY IN GEORGIA.

The forthcoming legislature ought to follow the suggestion of Representative D. C. Pickett, of Terrell county, and establish an asylum for inebriates. The finances of the state, or at least the method of collecting them, are straightened, it is true. But no individual would grudge sacrifices to save a member of his family, if medical attention would do it. And no state should grudge sacrifices to save inebriates, when the ministrations of science will undoubtedly accomplish that end.

Our viewpoint toward drunkenness has undergone a radical change in the past fifteen years. We know now the folly of the old system that treated the alcoholic as a criminal. We recognize that the inebriate often suffers from a disease, a degeneration of the tissues from poisoning and a weakening of the will; hence. With the most willing intention to reform himself, the palsied will has lost control over the enfeebled body and the persistent craving of the throbbing nerves.

Men in this condition need help. They need the life in the fresh air that will drive the poison from their systems. They need the healthy life and occupation that will substitute wholesome for morbid interests. Their judgment is fatally warped. It needs straightening. Their digestions are deranged, and need rehabilitation. Their minds cannot function properly. Their whole body has undergone a complete change and needs sadly to be brought back gradually and sometimes by tedious steps to normality.

All of this can be done by the outdoor cure for alcoholism, aided to a certain extent by a few simple drugs and by healthful companionship. A drunkard is a drag on a state. He is a non-producer of the worst sort. From the economic standpoint alone, leaving out sympathy, it pays to reclaim his kind.

The small money that Georgia would spend in inaugurating and maintaining an institution of this kind would be returned several fold in a few months. The spiritual and moral and mental returns cannot be computed. And if such an institution is established, there should go with it a law that will enable the proper parties to commit afflicted persons to such havens. There are no such laws at present. If they are hedged with the proper safeguards, they will be an invaluable adjunct in combatting alcoholism in this state.

In summing up the accomplishments of a former citizen who had departed for another state a Georgia exchange says:

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Prose Poet

WATCHING THE CLOCK

"Two young men in the store where I work got fired today," said the new boarder. "The boss told them they spent too much time watching the clock."

"I hope it will be a lesson to them," commented the landlady. "In these bustling times young men who wish to succeed must take an enthusiastic interest in their work."

"It's evident that you have been reading one of the uplift magazines, Mrs. Jiggers," remarked the star boarder. "A woman of your intellectual equipment should be ashamed to retail such platitudes. My sympathy is with the young men who were discharged. I have no doubt that they are the victims of a ruthless tyranny. The old superstition that people who work for their living shouldn't watch the clock is foolish and unjust. If you hold to it, you assume that the workers are merely graven images, without any human hopes or feelings. They have no other business in life than earning their wages and as a rule their wages are hardly worth earning.

"As a rule I contend that people who are foolish enough to work deserve whatever may happen to them. But I try to be fair and just, Mrs. Jiggers. I try to see things from their point of view. I realize that some of us must work. We can't all deal in gold bricks and brass watches. But people who must work, because of conditions they cannot control, should do as little as possible for the money they draw. These young men, who were fired, took the same theory, and they receive unmerited punishment because there are too many foolishly industrious people everywhere. If all workers were determined to watch the clock and do as much soldiering as possible, work would become a popular institution.

"To make clear my meaning, Mrs. Jiggers, I must dig into the dead, dim past. When I was a young man, I worked in a hardware store as a clerk. There were four of us thus employed, and three of us took the rational view. It was impossible for us to become zealous over the hardware business. There is nothing less romantic than weighing nails and wrapping up anvils in brown manilla paper. Every store in town had clerks similarly oppressed. Not for us the baseball games or the horse races or anything that made life worth living. We had to stay in the store and wait on tiresome people who would haggle for three hours over a cent, when the bleachers were calling us. I can understand how any clerk can be enthusiastic over this matter of buying and selling, when he must realize how much he is sacrificing.

"So the three of us watched the clock. We were always suffering to hear the evening whistle, which released us from our drudgery. The fourth clerk was one of those painful young men who wish to get ahead in the world. His activity was perfectly disgusting. He was the first at the store in the morning, and the last to leave at night, and I don't suppose he consulted the clock once in a year. He was a disturbing influence from the first. He set a false and impossible standard. Before long our employer began expressing a wish that he had more clerks like Clarence. He had the insolence to tell the three of us, to our faces, that Clarence was worth more in an hour than we were in a week.

"Pretty soon one of the three was let out to make room for another young man like Clarence. Then a second had to go. One by one the roses fell, my dear Mrs. Jiggers, and at last I was invited to take my hat and celluloid collar and go, making place for a fourth Clarence. My employer told me I was too fond of watching the clock.

"The three of us, having been discharged, held an indignation meeting, and decided to live without working, since work called for superhuman sacrifices and the suppression of every human instinct and ambition. I am proud to say that we all adhered to our resolution. Since that period we have watched the clock according to the dictates of our own conscience, none daring to make us afraid. We may not be materially prosperous as the Clarences of commerce, but we retain our self respect and independence. And now, Mrs. Jiggers, do my ears deceive me, or is that a cherry pie I see before me?"

Cold Water Was Condemned.

(From The Rural New Yorker.)

In contrast with our present belief in cold water an English herbal, published in 1529, says that "Many folke that hath bathed them in colde water have dyed or they came home," while the danger of drinking Nature's beverage is pointed out in the assertion that "It is unpossyble for them that drynketh overmoche water in theyr youth to come to ye aege that God ordeyned them." Condemned alike as a beverage and a bath, cold water held a very meager place in medieval domestic economy.

She Earned the Money.

The women of a Methodist church in St. Paul undertook to earn the sum of $1 for the church, and agreed to write verses telling how they earned it. Some of the rhymes may have been superior to those of Mrs. X., but it is safe to say that no woman found a more picturesque way of earning her dollar. Her husband brought home some limburger cheese one night. Mrs. X started to work verses in another part of the house. "I'll give you a dollar if you'll eat it," called out her husband as she was leaving the room. She held him to his offer, ate the cheese and won the dollar.

And for authoresses, print.

The World's Mysteries

WHO WERE THOMAS A'BECKET'S PARENTS?

The career and fate of Thomas a'Becket, the celebrated ecclesiastic, form one of the most remarkable episodes of English history of the twelfth century. The leading incidents of his life are familiar to all and so much of his busy career has been recorded that it seems unfortunate that nothing definite should be known about his early years, and especially as to who were his parents. What little is known of them is surrounded with so much doubt that it is difficult to sift any of the facts and feel sure that they are substantial.

It is said that Gilbert a'Becket, his father, had in his youth followed the Crusaders to Palestine. While he was in the east he was taken prisoner by a Saracen, or Moor of high rank. He was confined by the latter within his castle. He was most prepossessing in appearance, and the story goes that the daughter of his captor, who was a fair Mohammedan, fell deeply in love with him and assisted him to escape.

The fair Mohammedan was not entirely disinterested, for she exacted from a'Becket the promise that when he arrived home and was settled quietly that he would send for her and that they would be married. The lovelorn Moorish girl waited patiently during the years that passed, but no word was received from her Christian lover. Finally she decided to undertake the trip to England to find her forgetful knight and remind him of his promise.

It is said they were married, but not before she embraced Christianity, and further that she was baptized with great solemnity in St. Paul's Cathedral, no less than six bishops assisting in the ceremony.

Thomas a'Becket was the only child of this union, if such a union ever took place, or if there is any particle of this romantic story true. It has found credence among such historians as Dr. Giles, Thierry, Froude and Michelet; but one of the most judicious of modern biographers of a'Becket, Canon Robertson, has rejected it as legendary and wholly unsupported by any substantial evidence.

This English-Moorish episode gave rise to more than one ballad, in which the elder a'Becket's imprisonment in the east, his liberation by the Moorish damsel and the latter's expedition to Britain in quest of him are all set forth with sundry additions and embellishments.

In one of these ballads, which bears the name of "Lord Belchan," the fair young Moor, who, by some extraordinary corruption or misapprehension, is recorded under the picturesque name of "Susie Pye," follows her lover to Scotland, and there surprises him at the very hour when he is about to unite himself in marriage to another. The faithless lover, on being reminded of his promise, professes the utmost contrition and declares at once his resolve to wed the Moor's daughter, who had given such evidence of her love and attachment for him by making so long and dangerous a journey.

The hapless fiancee, who would otherwise have speedily become his bride, is unceremoniously dismissed along with her mother, and the nuptials of Lord Belchan and Susie Pye are then celebrated with great magnificence.

Another ballad on the same subject is entitled "Young Beikie," but the heroine here is represented as the daughter of the King of France and distinguished by the title of "Burd Isbel." By such romantic embellishments and so incongruous and ridiculous a nomenclature did the ballad writers of a later age embody in verse the story of the parents of the renowned Archbishop of Canterbury.

To entirely disprove this story some historians claim that Thomas a'Becket was the son of a London merchant, but there are no details obtainable regarding his parents. He still may have had his adventures in the Holy Land and returned to London to become a merchant. Further than his father having given him a good education, he does not figure in the life of the great man.

When a'Becket was still a young man he was employed in the office of the sheriff of London, and there he made the acquaintance of Theobald, Archbishop of Canterbury, who sent him to study civil law in Italy and France, and afterward, besides presenting him with two ecclesiastical livings, entrusted him with the management of certain negotiations with the See of Rome, requiring the utmost tact. This brought him to the notice of Henry II, and his advancement to the Chancellorship of the realm, and from that on his rise was rapid and his downfall quite as meteoric. But in all his career nothing further is heard of his parents.

HENRY WARD BEECHER

By GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

This is the birthday of Henry Ward Beecher, who was famous in his youth because he was the son of Lyman Beecher, and who, later on, made Lyman Beecher famous because he was the father of Henry Ward Beecher.

The Beechers lived in Connecticut, where Lyman Beecher raised thirteen children, of whom a larger percentage got into the encyclopedia than any other family of like size has been able to boast. Henry Ward Beecher was born 100 years ago this morning, and in his youth, while his brothers were becoming Congregational ministers in great numbers, he was headstrong and wanted to go to sea. But later on he studied theology and became the eighth minister in his family. In those days Congregational churches were divided into two classes —those who had a Beecher for a pastor and those who were on the waiting list.

Beecher preached in Indianapolis when it had only 3,000 people and no poets, and then went to Brooklyn, where he took charge of a congregation of nine members. He stayed there forty years and when he died he left 2,000 members and a magnificent church with the debt paid, new carpets in the Sunday school rooms and the Ladies' Aid society in a flourishing condition. That was the kind of a preacher Henry Ward Beecher was. Beecher was so eloquent that everyone who came to New York went over to Brooklyn to hear him and the regular members didn't get a chance to sit in their own seats for years at a time. This advertised Brooklyn and made it a very well known city for many years. It also made a visit to New York a much safer performance than it is now, when the cabarets draw all the crowds and the casual pilgrim comes home full of lobster and turkey trot music instead of theology.

Beecher had a home-made creed, and was so eloquent that he converted enemies, curiosity seekers and even church trustees. In those days ministers were not afraid to mingle in politics, and while Beecher's sister, Harriet, was writing "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Beecher was preaching against slavery with great zeal and success. During the civil war, when Great Britain was aching for a chance to avenge Yorktown, Beecher went over to England and stumped the country for abolition. He was a big man with a mammoth voice, and after the Britons had failed to howl him down they listened to him with great respect, and even with intelligence, at times.

Henry Ward Beecher died in 1887, and the Beecher family is now, unfortunately, almost extinct. All honor to stern old Lyman Beecher and his wife, who raised thirteen children, and with their help were deep footpaths down the sands of time.

NERVES

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

The time is coming when it will be a disgraceful thing for men and women to be led around by a bunch of scattered Nerves. Today they are the greatest Rulers in the World. No King or President holds such power.

Be Kind to your Nerves.

The reason why your Nerves Rule is because you arouse them to desperation. A man in a desperate position—Fights. That is exactly what Nerves do under the same circumstance. You can Rule your Nerves just the moment you get them calm and quiet—not before.

Be Saving of your Nerves.

Outside your Brain, your greatest Friend or Enemy is your Nerves. Don't you agree, then, that it is a mighty important business —to keep on good terms with them? Conserve and Nourish your Nerves. They will return double work in service.

Be the Boss of your Nerves.

Nerves give out the same as a Horse gives out when he is overworked. The trouble with most people who are Ruled by their Nerves is that they give their Nerves too much work. They make them do more than they are capable of. As a consequence, they waste their great power by drawing on themselves.

Serve notice on your Nerves that you want to run affairs from now on.

More Exhortation.

(From The Goldfield (Nev.) News.)

The early fly's the one to swat.
It comes before the weather's hot,
And sits around and files its legs
And lays at least ten million eggs.
And every egg will bring a fly
To drive us crazy by and by.

Yes, every fly that skips our swatters
Will have ten million sons and daughters
And countless first and second cousins
And aunts and uncles, scores of dozens,
And fifty-seven billion nieces,
So, knock the blamed thing all to pieces.

And every niece and every aunt,
Unless we swat them so they can't,
Will lay enough dodgasted eggs
To fill up ten five gallon kegs,
And all these eggs, ere summer dies,
Will bring forth twenty million flies!

And thus it goes an endless chain,
So all our swatting is in vain
Unless we do that swatting soon—
Say sometime in the month of June.
So, men and brothers, let us rise,
Gird up our loins and swat the flies.

Poppies in the Wheat.

Along Ancona's hills the shimmering heat,
A tropic tide of air with ebb and flow,
Bathes all the fields of wheat until they glow

Like flashing seas of green, which toss and beat

Around the vines. The poppies lithe and fleet
Seem running, fiery torchmen, to and fro
To mark the shore. The farmer does not know

That they are there. He walks with heavy feet,

Counting the bread and wine by autumn's gain;
But I—I smile to think that days remain
Perhaps to me in which, though bread be sweet

No more, and red wine warm my blood in vain,
I shall be glad, remembering how the fleet
Lithe poppies ran like torchmen with the wheat.

FIGHT OVER SUGAR BEGINS IN CAUCUS

Western and Louisiana Senators Open Contest to Save Duty—Decision of Caucus to Bind the Democrats.

Washington, June 23.—Democrats opposed to free sugar, enlivened the senatorial caucus late today by beginning their final effort to change the schedule before the tariff bill reached the senate for general debate.

Western and Louisiana senators primed to make a titanic fight against the provision approved and urged by President Wilson, which provided that sugar shall be free of duty in 1916. Senator Shafroth, of Colorado, and Walsh, of Montana, took up the contest when the schedule was reached suddenly late in the afternoon.

It had not been expected that the caucus would reach sugar before tomorrow, but the metal and wool schedules were rushed through without much discussion and before 6 o'clock the decks were cleared for the first and most determined party tariff schedule fight. This will be the acid test for free sugar.

Caucus Decision to Bind.

To the decision of the caucus the democratic senators will be pledged, and the prospect is that only Senators Thornton and Ransdell, of Louisiana, will be released from the binding resolution that is to be adopted. There is a possibility of one other senator asking for relief.

Senator Ransdell, who is leading the fight on free sugar, hurried from the caucus room when it was apparent the sugar schedule would be reached, and sent a messenger for Senator Newlands, of Nevada. He wanted all the democrats who do not favor the administration plan present. Senator Newlands soon arrived and immediately thereafter the first paragraph of the schedule was read.

Senator Shafroth, of Colorado, was the first speaker. Coming from a beet sugar state, he made a vigorous plea for elimination of the provision for free sugar in three years. He submitted many briefs and statistics to support the claim of the beet sugar manufacturers that free sugar would mean the crippling, if not the death, of the industry.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, who will make a fight against free wool, is standing by the anti-free sugar senators in the caucus fight. He followed Senator Shafroth and had not concluded when the caucus adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow.

Harmony Until Sugar Was Reached.

Until sugar was reached the caucus had been very harmonious. Not a change was made in the report of the majority members of the finance committee on the wooden and wooden manufactures schedule. The only material change in this from the Underwood bill was the free listing of cedar boards and other cabinet woods.

In the metal schedule there were four votes taken on committee amendments and in each case the committee was sustained. Aluminum in the crude state was left at 2 cents a pound, and in sheets and plates at 3 1-2 cents per pound. The committee's increase from 1-2 to 3-4 of a cent a pound on lead ore was sustained, as were its amendments increasing the duty on zinc ore from 10 to 12 per cent ad valorem and zinc in pigs from 10 to 18 per cent. An effort to put hand saws and other common tools on the free list was not successful and a few small items in the schedule were reserved for later determination.

Late tomorrow the majority of the finance committee will complete work on its revision of the income tax and a statement giving the details of the changes will be given by Chairman Simmons.

The committee tonight received a petition from a delegation of New York diamond merchants urging reconsideration of its action in turning down proposed reductions in the diamond rates of the Underwood bill. After careful consideration of the claims that the Underwood rates would encourage and increase smuggling the committee decided not to change the rates. As left by the committee uncut diamonds are made dutiable at 10 per cent ad valorem and cut diamonds at 20 per cent. The merchants want the present rates retained, cut diamonds at 10 per cent and uncut diamonds free.

To Put Future Gambling.

Senator Clark, of Arkansas, the president pro tem. of the senate, has prepared for consideration by the caucus an amendment to the tariff bill which would levy a tax on cotton sold for future delivery. It would assess a tax of one-tenth of one cent a pound on all cotton sold, agreed to be sold or agreed to be purchased for future delivery upon any cotton exchange, board of trade or other similar place.

The amendment would provide, however, that when cotton thus sold for future delivery actually was delivered in good faith, the tax levied should be refunded to the person or corporation which paid it, under regulations to be prescribed by the secretary of the treasury. The measure is designed to prevent stock jobbing and gambling in cotton futures.

The secretary of the treasury under the proposed amendment would be authorized to conduct inspections necessary to collect the tax.

Exchanges, persons or corporations who failed to pay or attempted to evade payment would be liable to a fine of from $1,000 to $20,000 for each offense, and in the case of individuals or unincorporated associations an additional punishment by imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than three years.

Senator Clark will push his amendment before the caucus when the cotton schedule is reached. It resembles a general amendment introduced by Senator Cummins, which would provide for a special tax on all commodities sold through stock exchanges or boards of trade.

BARKER IS PROMOTED TO GENERAL MANAGER

Commercial Agent of Southern Is Connected With Gainesville and Northwestern.

B. S. Barker, commercial agent of the Southern railway, has been promoted to general manager of the Gainesville and Northwestern railroad, with headquarters in Gainesville.

Mr. Barker has lived in Atlanta for the last nine years, during which time he has built up for himself an enviable circle of friends and admirers here who will be glad to know of his promotion.

Mr. Barker has been in the service of the Southern railway for more than twenty-four consecutive years. He entered the service of the road as a clerk in the offices of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, at Rome, about twenty-four and a half years ago. Later he was transferred to Richmond, Va., and about nine years ago was sent to Atlanta.

The vice presidency and managership of the Gainesville and Northwestern, upon which Mr. Barker enters July 1, gives him a splendid opportunity.

The Gainesville and Northwestern is a new road, having been completed only within the last ninety days. From Gainesville it extends through Hall and White counties to the foot of the Blue Ridge mountains, with its terminus at North Helen, Ga.

At Helen, 2 miles south of North Helen, both of which towns were named after the daughter of J. W. McComb, of St. Louis, a $500,000 lumber mill is being built. Hotels and other improvements are going up at Helen, and already it is becoming a flourishing town.

Big developments are already in progress along the line of the new railroad, and many more are expected.

SALUTE TO POINCARE RESULTS IN TRAGEDY

Cherbourg, June 23.—While the forts were firing a salute in honor of the arrival of President Poincare on his way to England today, an accident occurred which resulted in the death of two men and the serious wounding of four others.

It was thought at first that a cannon had burst, but it later developed that several blank cartridges had exploded. Contrary to the regulations, they had been placed close to the guns and a piece of burning wadding fell among them. The lieutenant in charge of the section was placed under arrest.

The president desired to cancel the dinner party aboard the Courbet and the fete in the harbor, but the guests already were arriving.

WASHED FROM HIS BOAT, FISHERMAN IS DROWNED

Savannah, Ga., June 23.—Returning from a fishing trip this morning, Captain E. E. Allen, of the fishing smack George E. Lane, Jr., reported that Charles Crooker, a fisherman, was lost off his boat two weeks ago a short distance from Tybee island. The body was not recovered.

Crooker was 35 years old and a native of Massachusetts.

Political Leaders of State Gather Here For Legislature

Political leaders from all over the state were in Atlanta yesterday in anticipation of the opening of the legislature Wednesday. Among them were quite a number of prospective candidates for congress, who were busy fixing up their political fences preparatory to the expected frays next year.

John N. Holder, of Jackson county, who was speaker of the last two houses of the general assembly, and who has a large number of friends in the present legislature, was kept busy shaking hands in the lobby of the Kimball house. Mr. Holder was defeated in his race for congress in the ninth congressional district last year. He will, in all probability, be in the race again next year and he promises to make it lively for any others who may enter that fight. Mr. Holder is particularly interested just now in opposing some of the new county moves. He is adverse to any division of his county in order to make a new county for Winder.

Carl Vinson Here.

Another prospective congressional aspirant, who is in the city is Carl Vinson, of Baldwin. Mr. Vinson represented his county in the last two legislatures and is now judge of the city court of Milledgeville. He may enter the race for congress in the tenth next year, if political gossip is to be credited.

A third man who has been spoken of for congressional honors who is on hand at the opening of the legislature is Judge G. Rufe Hutchens, of Rome. As former chairman of the prison commission and as the leader of the Underwood forces in the presidential primary last year, Judge Hutchens needs no introduction to the people of the state. He was nonconmittal as to the congressional race next year, but his friends know that he will make a good fight if he enters it.

Judge Jones in City.

A man who is well known to the people of Georgia and who did great service as a legislator from Meriwether county for a number of years is Judge W. R. Jones, of Greenville. He was on his way home from a business trip to New York and Washington, and stopped over Monday to shake hands with the "boys." While in the house Judge Jones was schairman of the appropriations and the general judiciary committees, which, as all legislators know, are the two heaviest committee assignments in the body.

One who arrived late Monday and was greeted by a large number of friends when he appeared in the Kimball lobby was Tom Eason, of Dodge. Mr. Eason has been prominent in Georgia public life as a former member of *the prison commission and as a legis*lator from his county. He is now in schedule now for assistant district attorney of the United States court in the southern district, and has been indorsed for the place by Senator A. O. Bacon.

Vereen Reaches Atlanta.

Among the prominent south Georgians here looking impartially on the political activities incident to the assembling of the legislature is W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie.

Mr. Vereen is mayor of his enterprising city and is one of the most influential factors of south Georgia in matters political as well as financial. He was delegate last year from his district to the Baltimore convention and has been at the head of the federation of boards of trade of Georgia. He is at the head of several of the largest financial and industrial enterprises in his section, but is never too busy to take an active interest in state politics. His name is being mentioned in this connection with the governorship after the retirement of Governor Slaton.

W. C. T. U. Propose Fast Day For the Defeat of Anderson

Rome, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Rome members of the W. C. T. U. in common with their sisters throughout the state, have been appealed to in a letter from Mrs. T. E. Patterson, of Griffin, state president, to spend Tuesday, June 24, in fasting and in prayer for the defeat of J. Randolph Anderson as president of the Georgia senate.

Many members of the organization here signify their intention to accede to Mrs. Patterson's request.

In her letter sent to all members in the state she pens a vigorous denunciation of Anderson, who she terms a tool of liquor interests. She says Savannah openly defies the state laws. Anderson is personally interested in a brewery and is so notoriously for liquor and that "gang" that his election to the presidency of the senate would be heralded throughout the nation as a great victory for the brewers and distillers. He might become governor of the state and manipulate everything for the liquor interests. On June 24 lets fast and pray that God's will be done in the election of a sane man as president of the senate."

14 NEGROES ARE HLED FOR DUBLIN MURDER

Officers Investigating the Killing of the Hewells Conceal Names of Prisoners.

Dublin, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Three more negro suspects were arrested today near and one at Scott making a total of eleven men taken into custody in connection with the tragedy early Sunday morning, in which Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hewell were brutally slain.

Although the officers are pursuing the same secrecy that characterized the first arrest yesterday afternoon, and have refused to make known the names of the prisoners, it has been learned on good authority that the three arrested near Long Branch were Sam Irwin, Tom Green and one known as "Little Joe." The action of the officers in refusing to give out any information is to keep from arousing the negroes and to prevent any trouble that might arise.

Jim Kellam, one of the negroes arrested yesterday, is still in custody, but the other two have been released, as the evidence against them was not strong enough to warrant their being held.

The negro arrested at Scott had blood stains on his clothes. He claimed that he spent Sunday night in Buckeye district, in the opposite side of the county from the scene of the murder. Officers have taken him to Buckeye to be identified.

The body of Mrs. Hewell was shipped this afternoon to Griffin at the request of her step-son, young Mr. Hewell having given the undertaker orders to this effect over long distance from Griffin today.

The two victims of the tragedy will be buried side by side there tomorrow. Her relatives in Easley, S. C., requested him to inter them together.

The coroner's jury held another star chamber session this evening, convening shortly after 6 o'clock. The public, including press representatives, were excluded from the room. The jury adjourned at 7:55 o'clock, after examining six witnesses, until 6 p. m. Wednesday.

ICE FAMINE CAUSED BY CINCINNATI STRIKE

Cincinnati, June 23.—Ice manufacturers of this city today were unable to agree on any method of dealing with their striking engineers, firemen, drivers and helpers. This city and others on the Kentucky side of the river are practically without ice, as the union plants are supplying only hotels, cafes and hospitals and ice sent from other sources is inadequate for the demand. It is being sold by the city only on physicians' certificates.

Mayor Hunt tonight received notice that many carloads of ice have been shipped from lake points.

Union teamsters today served notice that they would refuse to handle ice from non-union plants.

FLAMES DESTROY FINE MARIETTA RESIDENCE

Marietta, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—The residence of R. N. Northcutt, president of the Marietta Knitting company, was destroyed by fire at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning. It was one of the city's handsomest homes, and it is a great loss to that section of the city.

It was insured for only $2,500, and the furniture for $1,000. Most of the household goods were saved. The house was easily worth $8,000.

FUGITIVES IN SWAMP SAFE FROM OFFICERS

May Be Some Time Before Further Arrests Are Made in Train Robbery Case.

Waycross, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—It now looks as if it will be some time before there are any further arrests in the freight robbery case at Kirkland. Coffee county officers have practically abandoned the search for the men who retreated to Roundabout swamp, after having been almost surrounded on the south of the swamp, and special agents who have been working on the case are not going to attempt a search of the swamp.

Just how long the badly wanted men will remain in hiding before making a break for liberty is problematical. It reports given officers by natives at and around Kirkland are to be given many weight, the Solomon brothers and their unknown companion, believed to be an army deserter, are well stocked with provisions and may be able to hold out for some time. The fugitives' knowledge also of the swamp and the territory surrounding may aid them in eluding the officers for the time being, but it has become certain that the pursuit of the men will not be given up.

No effort has been made yet to determine just what the frequent freight robberies have cost, but it is understood that much valuable merchandise has been taken. Among the stolen goods was a quantity of wines. The men who conducted the robberies had no way of knowing what they were getting, just entering as many cars as they could while the train was at a standstill and taking all they could unload.

Whenever G. S. Godbold, chief of the Atlantic Coast Line's special agents, returns to the scene of the robberies interesting developments are anticipated. Although he has temporarily abandoned the search, the affair has by no means been marked closed by him.

MOCK CHARGED WITH CONCEALING ASSETS

Savannah, Ga., June 23.—(Special.) P. A. Mock, Sylvania merchant and Screven county farmer, was today held under a $2,000 bond, charged with concealing assets from the trustee who had charge of his property in bankruptcy. The case was heard before United States Commissioner Cooper Morcock.

Screven County Sheriff B. F. Joyner testified that at the instance of the custodian of the estate he recovered forty or fifty carloads of merchandise which had been removed from Mock's store and hidden about in warehouses, barns, stable lofts and in cane fields.

The case seemed to hinge on the question whether the goods was removed from the store prior to the appointment of J. W. Overstreet as trustee in bankruptcy or while he was only the receiver of the stock. Mock swore that nothing was taken from the store after the trustee had been elected. He said a compromise had been effected with the creditors and that he confidently expected the 50 cents on the dollar settlement to be put through.

Holding Outdoor Revival.

Augusta, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Stereopticon are being used to throw the words of the hymns to be sung during the open-air revival at the First Presbyterian church, which is being conducted by Rev. Joseph R. Sevier, the pastor. Decision to hold services outdoors was reached after numerous complaints of the excessive heat in the church during the services. The pastor declared the revival to be unusually successful.

New Postmaster for Jonesboro.

Jonesboro, Ga., June 23.—(Special.) Judge W. L. Watterson, the newly-appointed postmaster for Jonesboro, will take charge tomorrow. Mrs. Willie Brown, who has been acting postmaster for several months, will be his assistant.

RESINOL CURED AWFUL ERUPTION ALL OVER FACE

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 2, 1913.—"About eighteen months ago I noticed a lot of little sores spreading all over my face and neck. It itched me something awful, and I felt like I would want to tear my face apart. At night it would pain me and start swelling—then it would itch all the more—so I got very little sleep.

"I tried many treatments, such as ——, ——, etc., but none of them did me any good. I suffered for fourteen months until I sent for samples of Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. I applied them to a little part of my face and it showed good results. So I at once bought a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap from my druggist, and kept on using them for about three months, when I was completely cured. If you would see my face now you would never think anything was ever the matter with it." (Signed) Louis Bloch, 35 Morrell St.

For eighteen years Resinol has been a favorite doctor's prescription and household remedy for skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, sunburn, insect bites, dandruff, sores, piles, etc. Stops itching instantly. Every druggist sells Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. But you can try them without cost. Just write for samples to Dept. 44-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—(Adv.)

The Successful Business Man

—is one that surrounds himself with picked men trained to his ways.

He may be a carpenter, say, employing one or two assistants. Or he may be a big realty operator requiring the services of a dozen or more skilled salesmen.

But whatever he is, his position is similar to that of the captain of a vessel. With a good crew at his command he can make a successful voyage. Without them, he cannot get very far. Therefore, he the men that are to serve him, work with him, help him push his business ahead.

In most cases he finds them through the assistance of a want ad in the daily papers. Tho, often, the ad of a man in the Situations Wanted column brings him a trusty lieutenant.

Such was the case with J. M. Jenkins, who, to use his own words, "found the best salesman I ever employed" through a little want ad in The Constitution's Classified. It cost him 54 cents for three lines three times.

SOCIETY

Society Sees Open Air Play At Piedmont Driving Club

Well might the Ben Greet Players look out for their laurels in open air productions, for last night as the 200 guests entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Felder at the Driving club in honor of the Players' club were enjoying a delicious supper on the terrace a group of the most talented of the players surprised the hostess, who is president of the club, by presenting that delightful comedy entitled "Neurasthenia," by Francis Crowninshield.

The play was enacted on the space between the living room and the ball room annex, with the vine-covered wall of the loggi as a background.

A Clever "Play."

The play "Neurasthenia" takes place in a rest retreat for fashionable folks who can afford to have ailments which are warranted not to kill under any circumstances, but are frightfully expensive in the mode of treatment required. Everything is done to make the patients happy, to make them see their own imperfections and to bring them to realize the sunshine of life without any effort on their part. The star role was brilliantly interpreted by Mrs. W. C. Jarnagin, whose ailment was of the cardiac tendency and who was a typical "Lady Languish." She was at*tended by a beautiful and efficient* French maid, the kind to bring unhappiness to any well-ordered household, this part so admirably enacted by Mrs. Ransom Wright as to convince all ladies in the audience ambitious for the luxury of a domestique Francaise to forego it.

Mr. Claude Weller was the English duke who defied society and Mr. Ransom Wright, a dapitated, elderly gentleman of the type to live up to the noble sentiment, "I want what I want when I want it."

Mr. Tom Donaldson, Mr. Frank Taylor and Mr. Wallace Draper had character parts to which they did full justice.

Mrs. Ida Howell Cramer was a lovely nurse with caresses in her voice and her every little movement, and Mrs. Thaddeus E. Horton was Mrs. N. O. Trumper, a bridge fiend, who played the game as the most important function of life and caused many whispered comments in the audience as to "the women they knew who played bridge like that."

Some Social Follies.

Miss Hildreth Burton-Smith was the good natured matron, Mrs. Stubbins, of the retreat, who dealt out sunshine pills and cuddle tonic to the ailing ones and made them laugh in the belief that nowhere was life more possible and beautiful than right there. Mrs. Frank Owens was the fair and fascinating kleptomaniac of noble birth and lineage thus protected from the usual "costs" and put in the invalid class, and Mrs. Weller was conserving her beauty and wit by the proper diet, regular hours, soothing massage with no thought of life's responsibility.

The lines of the play were clever, the action good and the players—well, as was noted in the opening lines, they were far out of the novice class and worthy to play in the same open air with the Ben Greeters.

Mrs. Felder as the witnessed the play was as happy as a queen at court and more than ever proud of the achievements of the Players' club.

Guests on the Terrace.

The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Felder on the terrace Japanese lanterns on all sides, which with the shrubs and boxes of blooming flowers, made a tropical setting for the gay party assembled at 8 o'clock. *At small tables on the terrace a de*licious hot supper was served with the salads, ices and aspics making the tempting summer repast. The prettily garnished dishes were served from a long buffet table ornate with flowers and fairy lamps and the individual tables were decorated in summer flowers.

After supper and the play the ball room was thrown open and dancing was enjoyed, the guests promenading on the broad porches and at no time during the evening forgetting the restfulness and beauty of the terrace in its picturesqueness.

The costumes of the ladies were of the prettiest midsummer modes, Mrs. Felder wearing an embroidered chiffon gown in the shades of straw color. The corsage was outlined in lace and finished with a girdle of satin and her leghorn hat was trimmed in delicate blue plumes. She was assisted in entertaining by the officers of the Players' club.

To Visitors.

Mrs. Louis Moeckel will entertain at luncheon Wednesday in compliment to Mrs. Martin Dunbar's guests, Miss Thelma Nurgen, of Jacksonville, and Miss Maude Miller, of St. Louis.

D. A. R. Lawn Fete.

It is the wish of the Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., to make the garden party which they will give Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, on Peachtree road, a brilliant and gala occasion. Besides all the patriotic societies of men and women, who will patronize the event, there will be present all the members of the chapter, for in addition, as an invitation to these is to be extended Tuesday morning at the opening of the general assembly. Invited to patronize the lawn fete are all the friends of the Atlanta chapter; all who are interested in the patriotic endeavor of the movement, and all those who are interested in every phase of woman's organized work, or any work making for Atlanta's development along any line.

The guests are invited from 5 until 7 o'clock. A bright program of entertainment will be presented, and an admission of 50 cents will be charged.

McBride-Holliday.

A beautiful wedding last night was that of Miss Lydia McBride and Mr. John Ware Holliday, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Breitenbucher, on Sunset avenue.

The ceremony was witnessed only by the families and a dozen friends of the bride and groom among the younger set, and the only attendants were little Misses Lula Lewis and Isabel Breitenbucher, ribbon bearers. Dr. Hugh K. Walker was the minister officiating.

The bride wore her traveling suit, a becoming tailored gown of blue with hat to match, and her corsage bouquet was of valley lilies.

Mrs. Breitenbucher wore a white lace gown, and the ribbon bearers wore lingerie dresses.

Handsome decoration obtained throughout the house, a profusion of palms being used with pink roses in artistic arrangement, and a buffet supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Holliday left afterwards on their wedding trip, and they will be at home after July 1 at Wayeross.

The wedding, while it was a quiet one, had its cordial interest for a large acquaintance. The bride is a beautiful young woman, and one of the most attractive members of the younger set, and Mr. Holliday, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Holliday, was one of the most popular students at Georgia Tech. His business now stations him at Wayeross.

For Miss Oliver.

Miss Eloise Oliver was the honor guest at a box party given yesterday afternoon at the Forsyth, followed by tea at the Capital City club, given by Mrs. Joseph Moody.

The guests included Miss Oliver, Miss Lula Dean Jones, Miss Susie Hallman, Miss Carolyn King and Mrs. E. P. King, Jr.

Many useful and pretty presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Farrell. Vocal and instrumental music was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Frank Powell, Miss Johnson, Miss Elmira Dyer, Mr. George Macmillan, Miss Jean MacMillan and Mr. Robert Harris. Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. George MacMillan recited and Mrs. Fred Ingraham gave several humorous vaudeville interpretations. Miss Elise Beattie recited an original poem. Mrs. Earl Threlkeld and Mrs. Canton Armstrong assisted in receiving, each wearing their wedding dresses. Mrs. Farrell's gown was yellow satin with draperies of yellow chiffon.

The rooms were elaborately decorated with ferns, palms and daisies with many lighted candles.

House Party.

Mrs. Elizabeth Winship Bates is entertaining a house party of eight young people in compliment to her daughter, Miss Annie Winship Bates. A series of informal gayeties is planned for their amusement.

Miss Brooks Entertains.

Beautiful in every detail was the linen shower given by Miss Lillian Brooks at her home on Capitol avenue, Friday evening, in honor of Miss Pearl Mobley, a bride-elect. The entire lower floor was thrown together and artistically decorated in fern and white sweet peas, a color scheme of green and white being carried out. Miss Brooks, who will act as maid of honor at the wedding, looked charming in a creation of lace and white satin. The bride-elect wore yellow charmeuse with trimmings. Mrs. E. M. Redwine assisted in entertaining. Punch was served by Miss Irma Brooks, and the little Misses Grace Hamilton and Irma Lichenstein delightfully entertained the guests with piano selections. A unique feature of the shower was an "acrostic" on the word Redwine, expressing a wish to the bride-elect, after which she was given a basket decorated in green and white, and asked to gather in the many pieces of linen which were tastefully hung upon a gilt line. The young ladies were joined at 8 o'clock by Mr. Isaac F. Redwine and a number of young men.

Mrs. J. E. McGaughey will entertain at afternoon tea Friday in compliment to Mrs. Pedford Myers, a bride, who was Miss Kathleen Braswell, of Fitzgerald.

THERMOMETER SHOWS 86 DEGREES MONDAY

Temperature Cooled Off by a Rain About 5 O'Clock in Afternoon.

The thermometer only reached 86 degrees Monday, and the temperature was cooled off about 5 o'clock in the afternoon by a rain, but the effect of a quantity of moisture in the air made the atmosphere more oppressive than on a dry, hot day.

No particular change is forecasted by the weather bureau for today. The forecast made Monday morning announced showers for Monday or Tuesday, and as one shower has already appear of since then it is probable that it will be followed by one or more today.

Atmospheric conditions are still ripe for local showers, or "thunder showers," as the sudden rains of this time of the year are called by weathermen.

While few Atlantans realized it, except during two merchants whose plate glass show windows were blown out, one of the hardest wind storms that ever struck this section blew for about half an hour Sunday afternoon.

The wind, which accompanied the rain, drove through the streets at the rate of 54 miles an hour, propelling the rain in a horizontal direction. These were the official records taken from the government instruments. The weather bureau is not open on Sunday, but the instruments registered record climatic conditions on that day as on others.

ANOTHER PRECEDENT SMASHED BY WILSON

Washington, June 23.—President Wilson smashed another white house tradition today.

Bareheaded, Mr. Wilson walked out of the white house almost to the gate, to say goodby to A. Popham Lobb, colonial secretary for Bermuda, one of his callers.

Earlier, Mr. Lobb, who first met the president in Bermuda, had been a guest of the Wilson family at the capitol, and at luncheon. When Mr. Lobb departed his automobile had not arrived, and the president walked out through the grounds chatting with his guest until they met the motor car coming from Pennsylvania avenue.

HOT WEATHER "DONT'S" ANNOUNCED BY ALSBERG

Washington, June 23.—The last word in hot weather "dont's" was issued today in brief form by Dr. Carl Alsberg, who succeeded Dr. Harvey W. Wiley as chief of the United States bureau of chemistry.

Dr. Alsberg, it developed, would abolish the thermometer because of its dispiriting influence on the minds of perspiring men and women. Here are his "dont's:"

"Don't eat to excess.

"Don't wear too many clothes.

"Don't drink ice cold beverages.

"Don't look at the thermometer and keep thinking how hot it is."

Iced drinks are one of Dr. Alsberg's abominations, for he says they not only disorder the stomach, but they also interfere with the digestion. The effect of keeping cool on hot days, according to Dr. Alsberg, lies largely in temperate eating, taking just enough sustenance to keep off the pangs of hunger.

"But," says the doctor, "above all things, keep your eyes from the thermometer."

ZEBULON MAN IS SHOT BY HIS FATHER-IN-LAW

Zebulon, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—About 9 o'clock last night J. F. Neill was shot and killed by J. W. Vaughan. Neill is the son-in-law of Vaughan, and the killing, it is said, is the result of family trouble.

Neill's home was near Senola, but he was at the home of Vaughan, and the killing took place in the yard of the latter, about 2 miles from Zebulon.

The coroner's jury thought the homicide justifiable, but the father of the deceased had a warrant issued for Vaughan, charging him with murder. There were no eye-witnesses to the killing.

FARMER LOSES LIFE IN TERRIFFIC HAIL STORM

John Cain, of Newton County, Killed by Bolt—Much Damage to Crops Is Reported.

Oxford, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—*A terrific hail storm swept over the Mac*edonia section of Newton county, known as northern Newton, yesterday afternoon. John Camp, a prosperous farmer, about 40 years old, was killed by lightning. Mrs. Camp and niece are the only members of the family left. Mr. Camp owned valuable farming lands in Alabama, as well as in Newton county.

The hail did considerable damage to the corn and cotton crops, which were already some three weeks behind the season on account of the cold weather two weeks ago.

FOR BABE'S DEATH MOTHER IS TRIED

Physician Testifies That Mrs. Lanier Did Not Want Baby to Live—Waycross Court-room Packed.

Waycross, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—That the marks on the neck of the baby for whose death both Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lanier were arrested, and for which death Mrs. Lanier was today placed on trial in Ware superior court could have been caused only by a person with rounding finger nails was the emphatic statement made late this afternoon by Sheriff D. P. Whitmire, a state witness. Upon examination of the finger nails of the defendant he said they were square and about the same as when he had looked at them before the May term of court. This created a stir in court.

Dr. J. H. Lattimer, the first witness for the state, testified that he was called to attend Mrs. Lanier and that when born the baby was a normal one and showed none of the marks he found on it upon his examination at the undertaking establishment the next day. He said his opinion was that the baby met death by violent means.

Didn't Want Baby to Live.

Upon questioning by the defense he refused to swear that the marks on the baby's lips and the broken skull could not have been caused by jolting against the wooden coffin in transit to the burial place. He testified, however, that Mrs. Lanier had asked him not to let the baby live, saying that her parents would never speak to her again. He declared that he advised her then against doing anything that she would regret.

Mrs. E. J. Johnson, who conducts the boarding house at 52 Tebeau street where the alleged murder was committed, testified that she went to the Laniers' room on the afternoon of April 5 and found the door locked. She said Mr. Lanier was in there at the time, and left shortly afterwards.

Defendant Dressed in Silk.

Mrs. Lanier, attired in a silver gray silk dress, sat with her attorneys when the examination of witness began, and seemed to follow every remark closely. This morning while the jury was being selected she sat with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Damon, and close by were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lanier, parents of the young man who was tried and convicted of murder in the same case last month.

Frequently both Mrs. Lanier, the defendant, and her mother broke into tears, Mrs. Damon closing her eyes and shaking her head every time Solicitor Dickerson uttered the word "murder."

The courtroom has been packed, despite the warm weather, and a number of women are attending.

The jury trying the case is composed of the following: T. L. Mullinax, J. M. Peeple, J. A. McSwain, J. D. Gibson, W. H. Goodwin, John Walker, E. L. Bennette, J. Robert Odom, J. B. Pridgen, Richard L. Singleton, J. S. Guilford, Charles E. Phillips.

GOOD SHOWING MADE BY ATLANTA MILITIA

Lieut. McCabe and Major Seamans Pleased With Work and Conduct of Atlanta Boys.

By Ogie Grice, Private, Governor's Horse Guard.

Camp Brown, St. Simons Island, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Monday was rather a quiet day at Camp Brown. The five troops of the Second squadron drilled in both close and extended order several hours in the early morning. Fatigue duty required the efforts of the men after this. They were given their liberty from noon Monday until 11 p. m.

Inspection of the camp was made Monday morning. Lieutenant E. R. W. McCabe, the Inspector Instructor of the cavalry of the national guard, in Georgia, arrived at Camp Brown Sunday.

Of the scores of tents inspected, the one in charge of Corporal W. J. Nolan, and tenanted by A. Jones, W. Rhodes, G. E. Govan and F. Hunt, was declared by the inspecting officer to be the "model" tent, and the corporal and his squad were very highly complimented for the excellent conditions maintained.

Troop Le company street received the highest compliments from the inspector.

Assistant Inspector of Small Arms Practice Lieutenant A. McD. Wilson, of Atlanta, has made targets to be used in pistol practice, which will probably take place Wednesday. No one except the twenty officers of the squadron will participate in the pistol target firing. Lieutenant Wilson has been placed in charge of the battery of artillery here, and has direction of the fire of the gun.

General Nash Expected.

Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash is expected to visit Camp Brown Wednesday or Thursday of this week.

Troop maneuvers will be held Tuesday. Blank cartridges will be furnished the men, and regular sham-battles on a small scale will occur. Scout work and brush beating, advance guard and rear guard work will be featured. Guard instruction has been going on continually since the arrival of the troops.

Major Seamans, the commander of the squadron of cavalry, has expressed himself as being well pleased with the conduct and work of the men in his command. Major Seamans states that everything has been working like clock work, and the results of the efforts of the members of the command have been very satisfactory, indeed.

Although the lighter bearing the equipment of the squadron, did not land the supplies on the island until the middle of Saturday afternoon, the camp was completely established by sundown, and had not Sunday occurred next day, drills could have begun on the day after the arrival of the troops.

B. H. S. Class of 1908 Has Four Benedicts and Seven Lawyers Within Five Years

Friday evening at Durand's the graduates of the Boys' High school in the class of 1908 will gather around the banquet board for their fifth anniversary. Needless to say they declare it will be the biggest time since graduation night itself.

Interesting statistics, compiled by a member of the banquet committee of the class show that out of the 45 graduates only four thus far have launched forth on the sea of matrimony. The four benedicts are: William Candler, Owen Slate, Milner T. LaHatte and W. Paul Carpenter.

Seven members of the class, however, have graduated from the Atlanta Law school, and have hung forth their ambitious shingles as barristers. They are: William P. Buchanan, Edward Clarkson, George G. Osborne, James Noyes, Alex Yalovitz, Owen Slate and W. P. Carpenter. Only eight have graduated from colleges, while more than a score have gained marked recognition in business in Atlanta.

The plans for the banquet Friday are in the hands of a committee composed of Willis Milner, H. G. Bedinger, Willis Candler, Paul Carpenter and George Osborne.

OFFICERS ARE NAMED BY DENTAL SURGEONS

Members of the executive board were chosen as follows: Dr. M. D. Huff, one year; Dr. Claud M. Hughes, two years; Dr. C. Edward Buchanan, three years.

MAYOR NOT TO FIGHT COMPLETION OF PLANT

Woodward Wants Contract With Crematory Company to Name Time Limit.

Mayor James G. Woodward declared yesterday that he will offer no further opposition to the completion of the $260,000 crematory.

He is making a careful study of the contract drawn up by W. D. Ellis, Jr., assistant city attorney, and will return it Tuesday afternoon so that a special meeting of council can be called and the matter finally ended.

The mayor is better pleased with the contract drawn up by Assistant City Attorney Ellis than with those others submitted. He has declared that he will have nothing to do with the first contract, which council was willing to adopt, and he threatens to refuse to sign any of the checks unless the contract is so worded that no mention of the contract of June, 1912, is made.

Bond Wanted by Mayor.

"I will demand," said the mayor, "that there be a clause inserted in the new contract requiring the destructor company to complete the contract within a certain time. I'll also insist that the city be protected to the extent of having a bond to fall back on in the event the contract is not carried out in accordance with the specifications."

The decree of the supreme court which invalidated the old contract under which council is to pay $276,800 for the crematory, was made the judgment of the superior court, Monday morning.

The work on the plant will not be halted, according to Messrs. Evins & Spence, attorneys for the Destructor company, who take the position that council's action in authorizing the company to remain in possession of the site pending the signing of a new contract, does not in any way conflict with the decision of the supreme court.

"The Destructor company is enjoined from carrying out the old contract," C. P. Goree, attorney representing the complainants, declares. "The work must stop until a new contract is made by the city wit hthe Destructor company."

Threatens Rule for Contempt.

Attorney Goree threatens to go before Judge Pendleton and secure a rule for contempt against W. L. Dowd, Jr., P. D. Canham, representatives of the Destructor company, and every city official—councilman or otherwise—who engages in any action contrary to the decision of the higher court.

City Attorney James L. Mayson says that he does not believe the decree of the supreme court can be interpreted to mean that the city cannot go on with the work.

Councilman Claude L. Ashley, chairman of the sanitary committee of the board of health, says he is tired of the wrangle over the crematory and that he will support any contract that is drawn and which will hasten the work and at the same time conserve the interests of the people.

Harwell Hold Ups Contract.

Alderman J. H. Harwell has held up the contract adopted by council last Wednesday. He has given notice of his intention to reconsider the action of council and the aldermanic board. In two weeks the matter will be up again, and even if the contract is adopted over the protest of the alderman Mayor Woodward will veto it and it will be delayed three weeks longer.

The whole proposition in a nutshell is this: Council wants the mayor to accept a contract approved by it, and Mayor Woodward wants council to consult with him before he will agree to any contract or proposal.

Manager Dowd asserts that the delay is costing the Destructor company $26 a day interest alone, not to mention expenses which have been made necessary by the muddle.

JUDGE NEWMAN BUSY ON 70TH BIRTHDAY HEARING U. S. CASES

Because it was the seventieth anniversary of his birth made no difference whatever to William T. Newman of Atlanta judge of the United States court for the northern district of Georgia, yesterday morning when his court was opened for the day's work. At the usual hour the court official proclaimed the opening and Judge Newman came into the court ready for business.

Only some of the court officials and a few members of the legal profession who has been working in that court for years knew it was Judge Newman's birthday. A telegram brought into the court addressed to the judge brought out the information, and as members of the local bar were extending congratulations other telegrams followed. A native of Tennessee, Judge Newman has been a resident of Atlanta since immediately after the close of the war between the states. While yet a lad he entered the Confederate army, losing one arm in the conflict. Entering law he became Atlanta's city attorney in the early '70s and retained that position up to the middle '80's, when he was named United States judge for the northern district of Georgia by President Cleveland.

HELP FOR LOVED ONES OF DAVE YANCEY ASKED

An appeal is still being made for the family of Deputy Dave Yancey, who was hacked to death by a negro thief one week ago yesterday. The sum for the family has now reached about $1,000, of which $900 must be used to pay off the mortgage on the little home Yancey had just bought. It is desired to secure several hundred more dollars in order to put the widow and six little children in a way to earn their own support.

Lola, the eldest child, a girl of 15 years, has had to be taken back to the hospital and this adds another burden upon the mother. Mrs. Yancey herself is quite ill, and it is expected that it will be some time before she can do anything for herself or children.

Several of the deputies who knew Yancey have been busy in the past few days selling tickets to a ball to be given Friday night at the Owls' club, and through this it is hoped to raise an additional sum of three or four hundred dollars. The tickets may be secured at 25 cents apiece from N. A. Garner or D. L. Goodlin, Jr., at Solicitor Hugh Dorsey's office, or from Harry E. Latham, at the office of Lowry Arnold, solicitor of the city court.

8,000 Garment Workers Out.

Cincinnati, June 23.—At the joint meeting of the 8,000 men and women garment workers late today it was decided to reject the offer of the manufacturers for a 50-hour work week and demand a 48-hour work week. George Sudor, chairman of the meeting, denied that any I. W. W. workers had influenced the decision. He said all plants would be picketed.

MORRISON DID NOT ATTEMPT SUICIDE

Cleve Morrison, the young man who was taken to the Grady hospital Saturday night suffering from the effects of morphine poisoning, stated to a Constitution reporter Monday that the drug was not taken with suicidal intent, but by accident. He mistook the bottle for one containing harmless salts. Suicide, he says, was never contemplated, as he has everything to live for and no reason to take his life.

DEATH OF HALTIWANGER CAUSE OF DEEP REGRET

News of the death of A. J. Haltiwanger in Rome, Ga., last Sunday was received with profound regret in Atlanta business circles. His fine character and business efficiency won for him a host of friends all over Georgia.

Among those who recalled the career of A. J. Haltiwanger was C. E. Currier, president of the Atlanta National bank. His first recollection of Mr. Haltiwanger goes back to 1882, when as office manager and credit man for Crane, Boylston & Co. he gave indications of the brilliancy which marked his subsequent career. Leaving that firm to accept a more responsible position with a large drug company which was then located on Decatur and Pryor streets he remained there for several years, until the drug company went out of business.

Then qualifying as an expert accountant he forged to the front of his profession and had among his clientele the leading business men and corporations of the south.

His wife, who is ill in Atlanta, was unable to be present at the Terminal station with many of Mr. Haltiwanger's friends who met the body upon its arrival from Rome, Ga., Monday morning. Following the arrival of the body it was sent to Oakland cemetery for interment.

Surviving Mr. Haltiwanger are his wife and several children. One daughter married the son of H. I. Hughes, cashier of the First National bank of Rome, and another daughter married John Tullis, a member of the firm of Tullis Hardware company, of Montgomery, Ala. He also leaves two sons, Albert Haltiwanger, who is doing a prosperous insurance business, and Arthur Haltiwanger, who is with the Tullis Hardware company. Mrs. Haltiwanger, his wife, was formerly Miss Sarah Pickens, a niece of Governor Pickens, of South Carolina.

Warning to Beer Drinkers

Read every word in this opinion. Remember it is not our statement, but the deliberate opinion of a great scientist working for perfection in beer.

Pure beer is food and tonic.

G. Beck (Bierbrauer, 1881, No. 8) finds that

"beer in light bottles deteriorates more quickly than beer in dark bottles when exposed to the direct sunlight."

His tests were continued for three weeks and proved that beer in light bottles had acquired a very disagreeable, nasty taste and flavor and was unfit for consumption.

The Brown Bottle with Schlitz is not a fad. Its use is based on scientific principles.

We have adopted every idea, every invention, every innovation that could make for purity.

Schlitz is sent to you in Brown Bottles to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass.

Why don't you make Schlitz in Brown Bottles your regular beer?

Rain Butts In—Only One Game Today

EDITED BY Dick Jemison

WHIFFS

Ask Bob Baugh.

B. H. MOONEY, sporting editor of The Birmingham Ledger, is still claiming that the opening day in Birmingham had been better from a weather viewpoint, the Baron attendance would have exceeded the Cracker crowd by several thousand." We refer him to Bob Baugh, president of the Lyric club, as to the kind of weather Atlanta had on opening day. It rained all throughout the game and was cold besides. Mr. Baugh's own words were: "Atlanta deserves the palm. Such an attendance under such dir, weather conditions are deserving."

Won This Time.

BEING true sports, we doff our kelly to the Barons in having a larger attendance pennant-raising day than the Crackers had trophy presentation day. Put no one in Atlanta cared whether the troops was presented or not. They went out to the game opening day and won it. That was enough. The mere formality of presenting it appealed to none.

No Answer Yet.

DESPITE all his efforts to belittle Atlanta in comparison with Birmingham, Mooney carefully evades our challenge issued recently, when he claimed that the average daily attendance in Birmingham exceeded the average attendance in Atlanta. We offered to wager a slight amount that he could not get the figures to prove this statement. As was expected, he promptly crawled into his hole and pulled the hole in after him.

Add Strength.

THE VOLS have realized the futility of trying to win ball games with the light hitting that the team now possesses and every effort is being made to add hitting strength to the line-up and quickly. It is reported that Eloi de Alberdi, the hard-hitting Cuban, who played the third sack for the Barons last season, will be landed by the Vols and Clayton Perry shifted to the keystone. This ought to strengthen the Vols considerably.

Concerted Action.

THE CRACKERS need a little more concerted action in their play. They are not consistent. This in brief is why they are not in the lead and romping in the pennant race today. They play like world's champs and the next day they look like selling platers. The team is a great bunch of sluggers. Every other city in the league admits that. Their pitchers are showing better form now. Now, if the team will learn to field a little surer and run the bases with a little more recklessness, the victories will pile up in an astonishing manner. Now, while we are handing out the advice, let's take another poke at the coaching. Wake 'em up out on the old lines. Get after the other pitchers. The rival coachers get after ours strong enough.

Need Practice.

BILL SMITH ought to give his players a little private instruction daily in the art of base running. There is no excuse for such fast men as Long, Walcheer, Bailey, Alpermann and Smith to be such poor base stealers. The Giants won a pennant on speed alone. The Crackers have the speed but do not utilize it. We are slipping out this hint before it is too late and because the real trouble with the team has not struck us before.

May Make Him.

TOPSY HARTSEL, manager of the Toledo Mud Hens, may make a ball player of Hartsel after all. Hartsel, Kirke. Always a tremendous hitter, Jay never seemed to fit into any part of the machine because of his fielding ability. Hartsel has stationed him at the initial cushion for the Mud Hens, and his improvement has been wonderful. He has just made the Toledo team and he has promptly found himself. He is playing the best game of his career at the bat. Funny that some other managers did not discover this before. If Stallings had, Kirke would still be in the big show, as he's as good a hitter as most of them.

Why the Tears!

CONNIE MACK may not have an unhittable pitching staff, but neither has the other club when it bumps into Connie Mack's order. Mack's club can hit fine pitching harder than the other club can assault his patched-up array, so we see no reason why he should feel discouraged over the outcome. Not forgetting that whenever Mr. Mack requires a touch of artistic work for a round or two he could have two worse men around than Chief Bender and Eddie Plank. We've seen worse staffs than these two unaided.

Leading Again.

GIL PRICE is leading the Southern league twirlers again. The Crackers' southpaw, with nine victories and two defeats, has a percentage of .818. When the Big Pole was beaten in Memphis Sunday he dropped his fourth game of the season. With twenty-one wins, his percentage for the season is .778, and he has dropped into third place in the league standing. His teammate, Rudy Sommers, with 11 victories and 3 defeats, going into second place with a percentage of .786.

Going Strong

THE BILLIES have made a great record since June 1. Including the game played on that date with New Orleans and the one with Nashville yesterday, they have engaged in twenty-two battles in all, fifteen going on the right side of the ledger, five being dropped and two being tied. Four straights have been won and nine of the last ten have been coped. Pretty nifty traveling that reminds one of the days when Durrett was manager of the "Climbers."

Traveling Fast.

WHILE the other cities in the league are squabbling about the relative merits of their teams in the pennant chase, Johnny Dobbs has his Montgomery Billikens traveling like one possessed, and they are now safely ensconced in second place, but three and a half games behind the league-leading Gulls. Getting to be some race.

Old Man Jupe Butts In Again; No Double-Header This Trip; Musser Faces Evans Today

New Orleans, June 23.—(Special.)—Old Man Jupe butted into the festivities just as the umpires were announcing the batteries this afternoon and another game was put on the postponed list.

Contrary to expectations, there will be only one game Tuesday afternoon, the two postponed games in the present series being switched to the next visit of the Crackers to Birdtown.

Paul Musser, with Chapman receiving, and Rube Benton, with Angenenier receiving, were the announced batteries for the game Monday. These two will probably try conclusions in the pastime Tuesday afternoon.

Both teams thoroughly enjoyed the rest and the rain. It has been insufferably hot and with games going on every day, the players were wilting. The cooled atmosphere and the day of rest has put the two teams in fine fettle, and a great game is expected Tuesday.

Mobile, Ala., June 23.—Hogg was wild, hit opportunely and given ragged support, and Birmingham won today's game, score 6 to 1. Foxen allowed only two hits, sensational support by his teammates cutting down many near-hits.

Chicago, June 23.—Chicago and St. Louis broke even today, the locals losing the initial game 3 to 2 and winning the second 4 to 3, after a 12-inning pitchers' battle between Russell and Shotten. The visitors won the opening game when Shotten walked and Stovall singled, both advanced a base on Pratt's out and scored on Johnson's single. In the second game both teams fielded raggedly. In the twelfth, Berger led with a single and Lord, attempting a sacrifice, beat out a bunt. Chase advanced both runners on a sacrifice, and on Collins' sacrifice fly, Berger came home.

JACK JOHNSON GIVEN RIGHT TO APPEAL

Chicago, June 23.—An appeal from the verdict which sentenced him to a year in prison for violation of the Mann white slave act, was granted "Jack" Johnson, the negro pugilist, by judge Carpenter in the United States district court here today.

COULON AND BURNS IN TEN-ROUND DRAW

Kenosha, Wis., June 23.—Johnny Coulon, the bantam weight champion, tonight fought a 10-round draw with Frankie Burns.

For four rounds the two boxed toe to toe without either gaining the advantage. The fifth round went to Burns by a big margin; the sixth was even, and Coulon won the seventh. In the eighth and ninth both seemed tired. Coulon started in the tenth with a rush, but Burns, it was claimed, had a shade the better of the round.

ARTHUR PELKEY FREED BY JURY

Jury Was Out But Forty-Five Minutes--Wild Demonstration for Pelkey—Burns' Trial in October.

Calgary, Alberta, June 23.—Arthur Pelkey, the pugilist, tonight was acquitted of a manslaughter charge which was placed against him as a result of the death of Luther McCarty, who died in the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout at the Burns arena here May 24, last.

It was charged by the government that McCarty died as the result of a blow administered by Pelkey. The jury was out less than an hour before returning the verdict, although Chief Justice Harvey's charge was said to be unfavorable to the defendant.

In his charge to the jury Justice Harvey admitted that there was some doubt as to whether or not the contest was illegal, but he said there was no doubt that death had been caused by a blow, and that the jury should consider only whether the defendant was guilty of causing the death of his opponent in an effort to win the prize placed on the contest.

Jury Out Short Time.

The jury was out 45 minutes and the verdict was to the effect that the contest was a prize fight, but that Pelkey was not guilty of manslaughter inasmuch as the blow he struck was not intended to cause fatal results.

A big demonstration followed the announcement of the verdict, and as Pelkey stepped from the prisoner's box he was warmly congratulated.

The contest which resulted in the manslaughter charge terminated when it had been in progress less than two minutes. The great crowd hardly had settled in the seats in anticipation of a gruelling battle when McCarty fell to the floor after a quick exchange of blows. The crowd contended it was during this exchange that the blow to the jaw was struck.

When McCarty writer to the floor Pelkey followers in the stands cheered vociferously, believing a knockout blow had been administered. Death-like stillness fell, however, when the pugilist failed to show any sign of life. Doctors soon pronounced him dead. Scenes of wild disorder followed, and the crowd rushed into the ring, sweeping all before it.

Everyone Arrested.

Orders were issued by the crown for the arrest of all those connected with promotion of the fight. Pelkey, Tommy Burns, promoter of the contest; Referee Smith, Dan Whelan and William McCarney, McCarty's manager, were taken into custody, the latter two being held only as witnesses.

Startling developments followed in rapid succession after the principals of the affair had been released on bonds. The coroner's jury, with the crown charged, was composed of friends of Burns, held an inquest and returned a verdict exonerating Pelkey and the others from all blame. The verdict was set aside by the crown.

Burns' arena was burned to the ground the night after the fatal combat, and four persons narrowly escaped death. The origin of the fire has never been ascertained.

The trial, which was begun June 19, lasted only four days. The defense presented several medical experts to show that death was not caused by the blow to the jaw, which the prosecution contended caused a subluxation of the neck and subsequent death.

The trial of Tommy Burns will be held here in October.

BOREMUS IS SELECTED AT WILSON'S INSTANCE

Michigan Representative Named Chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee.

Washington, June 23.—The democratic congressional committee tonight elected Representative Doremus, of Michigan, chairman and agreed to co-operate with the democratic national committee in the coming mid-presidential campaign.

Mr. Doremus is understood to have been President Wilson's choice to head the party's congressional campaign organization. He was elected by a vote of 30 to 24 after several months of lively skirmishing for the post with Representative Cline, of Indiana; Representative Sabath, of Illinois; Lloyd, of Missouri, the retiring chairman, and Sharp, of Ohio, prominently mentioned as possibilities.

Mr. Lloyd announced some months ago that he would relinquish the chairmanship.

The new chairman is serving his second term in congress. He was active in the Washington and Chicago headquarters of the congressional committee in the last campaign. He said tonight it was too early to forecast any campaign program.

Harmony prevailed throughout tonight's proceedings. The organization was completed and everything is now ready for planning the coming campaign.

Besides the chairman the other officers elected follow:

Vice chairmen, Representative Cline, of Indiana; Senator Chamberlain, Oregon; Senator Hollis, New Hampshire; Representative Goldfogle, New York; Representative Baker, California.

Secretary, Representative Pepper, Iowa; assistant secretary, Representative Murray, Massachusetts.

Sergeant-at-arms, Joseph J. Sinnott, of Virginia, for fourteen years holder of that post and now also sergeant-at-arms of the house.

"CAP" JOYNER TO AID OF MARIETTA FIREMEN

The home of R. H. Northeutt, on Atlanta street, Marietta, Ga., was completely destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock Monday morning.

The Marietta fire department did good work in saving most of the furniture, but could make practically no headway against the flames, as such a big start had been made before they reached the house.

"Cap" W. R. Joyner, former chief of the Atlanta fire department, but who now lives in Marietta, rushed to the scene in his old rubber coat to aid the Marietta department.

3 CARS OF CUCUMBERS SHIPPED FROM TIFTON

Tifton, Ga., June 23.—Tift county truckers shipped three refrigerator carloads of cucumbers the past week. Three weeks ago it was thought the cucumber crop was ruined by the dry weather, but after the rains came the vines began to bear and the yield has been fairly good. One grower reports about 700 crates from six acres, but half of these, or about 350 crates came from one and three-quarter acres.

Tomatoes are coming in and several shipments have been made, although the movement is not yet under full headway.

MACON SOCIETY FOLK STUNG BY OLD TRICK

Alleged "Seeress" Is Missing With a Lot of Valuable Diamonds and Jewelry.

Macon, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—A number of people living on College street and Georgia avenue, Macon's two most fashionable residence streets, are singing the same refrain: "Stung."

For several weeks Madame Melba, a so-called seer, who claimed to be able to look into the past and future and tell her patrons many things of value to them, had been plying her trade right in the heart of this section of the city. Rumor has it that she did a land-office business, and that her patrons were put down on the waiting list, so great was the rush.

One of the requests made of each inquisitive person who desired to know what they were to expect in the future, was that they leave certain of their valuable jewels for the seeress to "sleep over," while pondering over the questions asked of her. It is said that a number of people left valuable diamond rings and other jewels.

A day or two ago the shades were pulled down at Madame Melba's house, and an investigation developed the fact that she had taken a sudden departure without confiding to anyone just where she was going. Some who still have faith in her declare that she will return, while others are not so certain about it, and have decided that in the future it is best to beware of fortune tellers, especially the kind who must have valuables to sleep over.

Mind Reading in Court.

Macon, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Mind reading figured in a habeas corpus hearing in the Bibb county superior court this morning while Mrs. Dixie Jarrett, known as the "Dixie Magnet," was on the stand.

The case was that of Mrs. Mattie Shipman against her husband, O. S. Shipman, to secure custody of her 6-year-old daughter, now in Tampa, Fla. Mrs. Abbott was called as a witness and asked if she was a mind reader.

"A good many people think that I am a seer," said Mrs. Abbott, "and as a matter of fact I do possess some such power."

"Did you say that by merely waving your hand in front of Judge Mathews' face you could influence his decision one way or the other?" asked Attorney W. D. McNeil.

"No, I did not," said Mrs. Abbott, "but I could read the judge's mind if the conditions were favorable."

"When did you ever see the child known as Thelma, who figures in this case?" asked the attorney.

"In my mind. My second sight!" was Mrs. Abbott's reply.

Judge Mathews declined to take cognizance of such testimony and laughed heartily at Mrs. Abbott's declaration that she could read his mind, but did not give her a chance to demonstrate her skill.

The court did not allow Mrs. Shipman's writ because of the fact that the child was outside the jurisdiction of the court. Mrs. Shipman is asking for alimony also, on the ground that her husband deserted her and her two children.

Bernstein to Leave Macon.

Macon, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Harry Bernstein, manager of the Grand theater, who several months ago figured in the sensational mix-up with the police department, resulting in Patrolman Proctor being "fired" from the force, is to leave Macon. Bernstein has just returned from a conference with Jake Wells, lessee of the Grand, and announces that he will leave Sunday and not return.

Wells has decided to suspend vaudeville in Macon for the summer, and probably for all time, and therefore decided to give Bernstein, who is considered one of the best men on his staff, another assignment.

It is said that Macon will next season get two or more road shows each week.

Frazier Goes Abroad.

Macon, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Dr. E. P. Frazier will leave Wednesday morning for New York to set sail for Switzerland, where he will join Mrs. Frazier and his children, who are already in that country. Dr. Frazier will be located for the next four years as vice consul at Vevey, he having been given this appointment last week by the state department.

TELAMON CUYLER SUED BY WIFE FOR DIVORCE

That Telamon Cruger Smith Cuyler, known in his early days and before the courts changed his name, as Telamon Cruger Cuyler Smith, is being sued for divorce by his wife, Mrs. Grace Barton Cuyler, of San Francisco, is the news which has reached Atlanta, where Mr. Cuyler spent the younger part of his life.

Wilful neglect and lack of consideration for herself and the two young children are named as the causes by which the wife, a Californian, asks for a legal separation in the Californian courts from the former Atlantan. Mr. Cuyler is said to be at his country place, Wayside, Jones county, Ga., and it is understood that the divorce notice will be served upon him by publication.

The son of the late Henry H. Smith, a prominent cotton broker of Atlanta, Mr. Cuyler, is widely known in Atlanta, where he lived before going to New York, and finally touring the world. He is noted for his hobbies and for his writings on southern history. He is a noted collector of curios.

COURT TO INVESTIGATE LYNCHING AT AMERICUS

Better Class of Citizens of South Georgia Town Deplored Outrage of Saturday Night.

Americus, Ga., June 23.—(Special.) Resolutions ringing with denunciation of the outrage here Saturday night, deploring the affair and calling upon the public at large to withhold severe criticisms for the act of the lawless mob, have been adopted by several of the Americus churches and will be published tomorrow morning.

Without exception the fiendishness of the mob is condemned generally as the victim, William Redding, who wantonly shot Police Chief Barrow, was already dead, having been killed by members of the mob when taken from the jail cell. The body was dragged three blocks to the business center of the city, hanged and burned after being shot to pieces.

Judge Z. A. Littlejohn, of the southwestern judicial circuit, may convene Sumter superior court in special session for thorough investigation of the lynching. He is out of the city tonight, but announces that he will investigate the lynching upon his return tomorrow.

Governor Brown also wired this afternoon to Captain James Fort, commanding the Americus Light Infantry, for a detailed written report of the tragedy, which was sent the governor tonight. The military was called out by Governor Brown late Saturday night, but not before Redding had been lynched and the streets cleared of the excited mobmen.

ICE WAR AT MACON GOES INTO COURTS

Macon, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Macon's ice war got into the courts today when Judge Mathews in the superior court granted a temporary injunction to keep the Atlantic Ice and Coal corporation from further reducing rates to consumers in Macon.

The injunction was granted on petition of the Southern Ice and Coal company, which claims that the cuts in rates made by the Atlantic company has made the ice business in Macon unprofitable. It is alleged that the Atlantic company is able to place their rates low here because they can raise them in other places where they have no competition.

Since the ice war began the price to consumers has taken a big drop. Ice at the factory which formerly brought 20 cents per hundred pounds, is now selling for 15 cents. Six-dollar coupon books have been reduced to $4, while there has been a general cut all the way around.

The hearing on the permanent injunction will be held July 25.

YOUNG BOY LEADER OF AUGUSTA-SAVANNAH RUN

Augusta, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Showing unmistakable signs of the eight-hour grind on their motorcycles through the sand, mud and dust of the 130 miles they had traversed, ten of the fifteen starters chugged into Augusta, at the end of the first endurance run of the Savannah Motorcycle club to Augusta, and checked in between 8:40 and 9:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Eddie Waters, 16 years old, and the youngest contestant, was the first to check in, arriving at 8:40. He was followed closely by L. R. Buckner, who arrived five minutes later. W. S. Mell came third and A. O. Meyers fourth. The riders were sent off Saturday at noon by Mayor Davant, of Savannah, at one-minute intervals.

PUBLIC DEFENDERS PROPOSED IN BILL

Legislature May Vote on Plan at Coming Session—Only Five Counties Affected.

Representative Blackburn, of Fulton county, will introduce in the house a bill prepared by Judge W. R. Hammond, of Atlanta, authorizing the appointment of a "public defender" in all counties in the state having a city of 20,000 or more inhabitants.

The bill provides that the public defender shall be an experienced lawyer of at least ten years' actual experience in the practice of law, and the appointment is to be made by the judge of the superior court of each county, the compensation coming out of the county funds and being set by the county commissioners.

Only five counties in Georgia would be affected by the bill, as there are only five cities in the state of over 20,000 population—Atlanta, Savannah, Augusta, Macon and Columbus.

"It shall be the duty of said public defender," reads the bill, "to defend all persons charged with crimes or misdemeanors in the superior courts of said counties or other criminal courts except the mayor's or recorder's courts, where such persons are unable to employ counsel to defend them. If the opinion of said public defender, concurred in by the judge of the court, said person is guilty as charged in the indictment or accusation, then he shall so advise the court, and he shall not then be required to do more than to use his influence to prevent the imposition of an excessive penalty.

"Be it further enacted that the term of office of said public defender shall be four years from the 1st day of January next after the passage of this act, but shall commence immediately upon his appointment if before that time."

Hot Weather Things for Your Table

Frequently at this time of the year one is in a quandary what to provide for the most important meal of the day.

Breakfast and luncheon are problems easily enough solved, but the dinner bill of fare is not so quickly arranged, particularly when there are numerous mouths to feed and the family purse is none too portly.

It is astonishing how helpful a paper like The Constitution can often be—particularly the advertising columns.

Shrewd readers can find many hints of value in The Constitution advertising columns; many things that aid in quickly deciding what "to have for dinner."

And usually these hints afford a pleasant opportunity for the judicious exercise of economy.

The market columns, the news that is related by the grocery and fruit shops — all teem with helpful suggestions.

Just turn to this paper the next time any dinner doubt enters your mind.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES, DAY BY DAY

ALL THE NEWS OF REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

The Edwin P. Ansley Real Estate agency has placed upon the market the old Greer plantation, at Dakota, Turner county, Georgia, having subdivided it into sixty-five small tracts for cultivation.

This plantation is one of the old historic landmarks of that portion of the county, and within its boundary lines is said to be some of the best soil of the state.

Cotton, corn and other products have been successfully raised in the past on this land and now under the new scientific methods of farming it is thought that the smaller tracts, when farmed intensively, will yield the highest per-centage of returns of any in the state of Georgia.

Thursday a number of farmers, city men and investors from all over the state are going to make the trip down to Dakota and look the tracts over. Already a number of the tracts have been sold on some of the land and it is thought that within the next few weeks or so the entire subdivision will be sold.

The Julius Brown place, one of the fine old homes on the south side, at the northwest corner of Washington and Rawson streets, has been placed upon the market for sale.

This old-time mansion is a three-story brick affair, with numbers of rooms, built after the old southern fashion. Years ago it was noted throughout the country for its collection of rugs and pictures and antique novelties which the owner had collected.

The management of several of the hotels in the city are making minor

ATLANTA BAR IN FAVOR OF MUNICIPAL COURT

The bill which is to be placed before the legislature at its coming session to establish a municipal court in Atlanta, taking the place of the justice courts, was formally discussed yesterday before the meeting of the Atlanta Bar association and was apparently favored in its present form by all those present. It was returned to the special committee and they were given power to make any changes in it that they saw fit.

The only amendment asked was by Alex Stephens, who desired to have it changed so that the judges may be elected by popular vote and that their jurisdiction might apply to cases involving $1,000, instead of $500, as at present intended.

In its present form the bill provides for one chief judge and four associates, who are to be selected by the judge of the Fulton superior court. The bill will be formally called to the attention of the representatives of Fulton county and also of DeKalb county, as part of Atlanta lies in DeKalb.

improvements on the exterior of their buildings, notably the Piedmont and the Imperial. The former has just added a covering over the Luckie street carriage entrance and the Imperial has about completed a new entrance to their attractive hotel, one more in harmony with the prevailing type of architecture than the previous one. The general plan is the same, but the arches over the doorway have been changed slightly and made larger and more impressive looking.

The interior of the offices of Forrest & George Adair are undergoing a complete renovation. Partitions have been torn away, desks moved and a general spring cleaning with a new modeling of the office space conducted. When finished it will be one of the most imposing offices in the city.

Sales were rather light in the local real estate field, but no discouragement was felt, as bank clearings, which vitally affect real estate, showed a big increase last week, and this week has just begun.

The Charles P. Glover Realty company announces the sale of the following lots in the Brookhaven section:

C. P. Coppedge has bought from J. F. Schilling a cottage on a lot 64x211 feet on Highland avenue for $2,600 and will later improve the property by building six more cottages.—W. Harrell, of the George P. Moore agency, handled the deal, and also the sale to James K. Polk for a client a vacant lot, 100x220 feet, on the west side of Germania avenue, just west of Decatur, for $900 cash.

OFFICER IS MANHANDLED BY SAVANNAH NEGROES

Savannah, Ga., June 23.—(Special.) The arrival of reinforcements from police headquarters averted a serious race riot in Yamacraw today when a gang of negroes made an attack upon Patrolman Stephenson and rescued a revolver.

Patrolman Stephenson was struck in the head with a rock, suffered a laceration in the mouth and was wounded in the arm by the negro's teeth. A young man, whose identity is not known, was struck in the face with a brick and badly injured.

The officer arrested a negro, whose identity the police have not made certain, for disorderly conduct. He resisted arrest. The prisoner became so violent that the officer was forced to make use of his club. Stephenson was then attacked by negroes. He lost his badge and his prisoner and was badly beaten before reinforcements arrived.

ONLY ONE WEEK LEFT FOR RETURNING TAXES

Only one more week is left in which county taxpayers may return their taxes in order that the budget for next year may be made up and the tax rate fixed. Tax Collector T. M. Armistead made a calculation Monday whereby he estimated that about 1,000 citizens of the county have so far failed to return their taxes.

Mr. Armistead has sent out an appeal to all taxpayers to hasten to return their taxes, as it is important that the officials get an idea of the rate of the tax per capita.

This, With Scattered Selling, Sent Cotton Prices Lower.

New York, June 23.—The easier tendency in the cotton market toward the close of last week was in evidence again today, owing to continued realising by old longs, or scattered selling, inspired by favorable weather and crop reports. The close was steady but at a net loss of from 4 to 11 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 4 to 6 points, in response to lower cables, unfavorable European political news and reports of good weather in the south over Sunday. The initial prices reflected a setback of fully 20 points from the high level of last week and this break seemed to attract a good deal of covering by recent sellers, as well as some fresh buying for long account. Demand failed to broaden on a early 6 to 8 points, however, while there were indications of continued realizing by old longs, under which the market soon turned easier, selling about 7 to 10 points net lower during the early afternoon. Subsequent fluctuations were more or less irregular, but the market met too much cotton on the rally to hold any improvement of consequence, and closing prices were within 2 or 3 points of the lowest.

Recent Wall street buyers were credited with being among the heaviest sellers during the day, while there was some further liquidation of Liverpool straddles and scattered southern sellers. Trade interests were moderate buyers on a scale down, while there was considerable covering, which probably constituted the bulk of the demand. Rumors were preliminary returns to the National Ginners' association, based on the official June bulletin, pointed to a final condition report of 82.2 and thus suggesting an improvement of about 4 per cent in the crop outlook during the month, probably inspired part of the day's selling.

Private cables from Liverpool attributed the decline there to a less active spot demand and continued continental realizing. Detailed weather reports showed some rain in the eastern and central cotton sections of the belt, which was not considered unfavorable following the recent dry, warm weather and crop complaints were received from the south.

Cotton spot closed quiet, middling uplands 12.90, middling gulf, 12.85; sales, 2,430 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, June 23.—Cotton was depressed today by good crop news and a favorable weather outlook, both of which stimulated short selling and also brought out considerable liquidation of long cotton. Bulls made no effort to buck the market, as July had new influence than usual. The market was not very active at any time and bears fed out their shortage very successfully, evidently being advised of the absence of manipulation in the summer months.

The opening was unchanged to decline of 5 to 6 points. Cables were on up to expectations and the trade may be said to have received favorable rain reports in Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma, which have been made. Soon after the call there was a recovery which left the market over 10 points on a day's close and the new crops within 2 points of that level. Thereafter the market was dull all day. Selling increased around the middle of the morning session, being stimulated by the report that a well-known private crop expert in Texas was out with conditions figures of 83.2 per cent against 87 men the same time last year. Figuring up the new crops 12 points under Saturday's final figures left the market at that decline.

Profit taking on short cotton and little fresh long buying steadied the market around noon and brought about a partial recovery, but in the afternoon dullness and a lack of support of the 12,000 bales in the New York stock put prices to the low levels of the day. The close was steady at a net loss of 3 to 10 points.

Spot cotton quiet and unchanged; middling 12 8-16, sales on the spot 10 bales, to arrive 150. Low ordinary 9 3-16, strict low ordinary, nominal; good ordinary 11¾, strict good ordinary, nominal; low middling 12¾, strict low middling 12⅞, middling 12 5-16, strict middling 12⅞, good middling 13 1-16, strict good middling 13¼, middling 13 11-16, strict middling 13⅝, receipts to fair 14 1-16, nominal; fair 14 7-16, nominal; receipts 1,602, stock 94,733.

Dry Goods.

New York, June 23.—The tone of the primary market for cotton goods today was quiet but steady. Gray goods of print cloth construction were irregular. Some had shown loss of the stipulated men's wear weights for the coming spring season. Most prices on those goods remained unchanged, but in certain cases the prices named were 5 per cent higher. There was a fairly good demand for staple and fancy dress goods for fall delivery. Raw silk advanced sharply on the Japan market.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, June 23.—Favorable weather over the week-end and disappointing tables from Liverpool induced further liquidation at the opening today, under which prices declined about 7 points after. These offerings had been absorbed, the tone of the market steadied and local buying forced a recovery of nearly all of the early loss in prices. While trade interest bought rather freely at the decline, no effort on the part was made to support the market, but indicated a willingness to buy on a scale down.

London Stock Market.

London, June 23.—Money was in good demand today. Discount rates, while firm, showed little tension, especially in Brazilian and Peruvian issues, the outcome of the settlement which is now during the forenoon, while there is much speculation as to the outcome of the July settlement this week. A sudden change, however, occurred after the afternoon session began in a general recovery. Bears covered as a result and rising appeared, and the market closed firm.

American securities moved irregularly during the early trading. Later there was a sharp upturn on New York buying. The leaders advanced from ½ to 2 points, but the close of the list made smaller gains. The tobacco was cheerful.

BIG NEBRASKA YIELD SENT WHEAT LOWER

Market Closed Nervous, One-Half to Seven-Eights Cent. Corn Lower.

Chicago, June 23.—Assertion that the Nebraska harvest was showing the largest average yield per acre ever known east of the Rockies, caused a sharp break today in the price of wheat. The market closed nervous, 1-2 to 3-4@7-8c under Saturday night. Latest trading in corn was 7-8c down, and oats of 1 to 1 1-8c. For provisions the outcome was a net advance of 2 1-2@2c to 27 1-2c.

Wheat early displayed considerable strength. The firmness came about through statements from experts that a big section of South Dakota had been damaged about 50 per cent and threatened to become a total failure. Later, however, good authorities partially contradicted the damage reports. According to Nebraska advices thirty bushels of wheat to the acre was proving to be a common yield there. Forty bushels was being harvested in many spots. In view of such news, support for prices gave out. Primary receipts of wheat were 912,000 bushels, against a holiday a year ago. Export clearances of wheat and flour equalled 224,000 bushels.

General rains covering the chief producing made the corn market sink. A big increase in stocks on hand tended also to depress selling.

Ideal weather for the growing crop put oats under bear control. Besides, the visible supply increase was heavy.

Influential buying lifted provisions. Business, however, did not reach a large total.

WANTED

A Man

Who can do one thing well. May be a bricklayer, chauffeur, salesman, stenographer, cashier, bookkeeper. One who helps himself by helping the house. One who keeps his body clean and his brain clear. One who really enjoys playing the great game of business; who can work an extra hour or two now and then with a smile. One who is always on deck a bit before the office hour and who becomes so interested in his work that he forgets the clock.

Such a man is wanted now by employers in every line of endeavor. They advertise for him daily, in The Constitution's classified. They may not be as specific as we are — but it's this kind of a man they want.

If you feel you fill the bill, tell them so in a want ad in the Situation Wanted column of this paper. Three lines three times cost 15 cents. Use more and tell your story fully. Whatever is worth doing at all is surely worth doing well.

BAPTIST PASTORS PUT SMITH'S TEAM IN SHADE

Didn't know there was a baseball game yesterday, did you, Mr. Fan? Well, there was, and a corkin' good un, too! Oh, no, not at Ponce. The old joygrounds were closed tight as a miser's wallet, but the Baptist parsons played a game at the waterworks that beat Bill Smith's performances to a forlorn frazzle.

In view of the fact that in reporting regular baseball games, and this was a regular baseball game, it is customary to announce the score in the beginning of the account, be it here announced that the "Has-beeners" defeated the "Never-wuzzers" by a score of 10 to 2.

The Baptist Ministers' association of Atlanta held their weekly conference and a barbecue and all-day picnic at the waterworks.

Big Change in Afternoon.

During the conference which took place in the morning the parsons were —just regular parsons, with long black coats and white collars and ties, who called each other "Brother Ridley" and "Brother White" in deep sonorous voices.

But that afternoon dignity went the way of the wicked. Coats and collars were shucked off, the parsons shouted and sweated like regular fellows.

Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist church, was elected captain of the "Has-beeners" and Dr. C. A. Ridley, of the Central Baptist church, took charge of the "Never-wuzzers," each pitching for his respective team.

No sooner had Dr. White stepped in the box and began to wind up than Dr. Ridley came rushing out on the field as mad as if some wicked moving picture man had attempted to open his theater on Sunday again.

Beefs on Ringer.

"Look yer here, John," he shouted, "what d'ye think you're puttin' across on us?"

"What yer beefin' about, Caleb?" blandly asked Dr. White.

"That there ringer! That there ringer!" yelled the parson of the Central Baptist, growing red in the face in his righteous wrath and indignation as he pointed to a layman receiving for Dr. White.

Dr. White agreed himself and placed his hands on his hips.

"Now, look yr here, Caleb," he argued. "Of course, everybody knows he ain't no preacher. We ain't makin' no bones about it, but that ain't no reason why he should be looked down on as a ringer. Is he the game is it? Why, Caleb, that ain't even in keepin' with the policy a broad-minded preacher ought to follow."

"I no know, but John, that ain't what I'm kickin' about," protested Dr. Ridley. "Just call him over here."

Everything's All Right.

Dr. White crooked his finger and the contested layman meekly walked out to the pitcher's box. The other seventeen parsons crowded around. A heated argument ensued in tones so low that the spectators could not catch what was being said.

Presently when the crowd broke up and the players went back to their respective positions Dr. Ridley turned to the umpire and said:

"Let 'er go, umps."

Umps called "play ball" and fiercely the battle was joined until the fourth inning, when Parson Ridley "cheated" Dr. W. B. Riley, of Minneapolis, upon the head with a fast upshoot, which put an effective end to the western parson's participation in the game. Dr. Riley, however, was able to preach at the Tabernacle last night.

The results of the game were as follows:

CUSTOMS DISTRICTS MAPPED FOR SOUTH

Washington, June 23.—Secretary McAdoo, of the treasury department has just settled all disputed questions in the south, over the redistricting of the customs service and is now practically prepared to effectuate the sweeping customs reorganization the country over on July 1.

Jacksonville will be the headquarters of the Florida district. While some treasury officials believed Tampa should be the headquarters of the district because, it is said, the import business of that port is far greater than Jacksonville, it has just been decided that under the plan of reorganization as sent to congress by former President Taft it is imperative that Jacksonville be designated as the headquarters of the collector for Florida. To meet the requirements of the service, it is added, however, the collector will spend much of his time at Tampa.

As finally decided upon, the new southern districts and the ports of entry, contained or created, are as follows, the first port mentioned in each instance being the headquarters of the collector:

Virginia (except Alexandria county): Norfolk, Newport News, Richmond Petersburg, Cape Charles City, Chincoteague, Roudville.

North Carolina: Wilmington, Elizabeth City, Newbern, Manteo, Beaufort.

South Carolina: Charleston, Georgetown, Beaufort.

Georgia (except St. Marys river section): Savannah, Brunswick, Darien, Atlanta.

Florida (including St. Marys river north bank): Jacksonville, Tampa, Key West, Punta Gorda, Fernandina, Miami, Pensacola, St. Andrews, St. Augustine, Fernandina, Cedar Keys, Port Inglis, Appalachicola, Carrabelle.

Mobile (including Alabama and part of Mississippi): Mobile, Birmingham, Gulfport, Scranton.

New Orleans (including Louisiana and part of Mississippi): New Orleans and Morgan City.

This reorganization of the customs service of the entire country is the most drastic ever attempted at one time. It reduces the number of districts from 162 to 49 and abolishes 112 collectors of customs, including a number in the south.

AGED GEORGIA EDUCATOR DIES AT LAGRANGE HOME

LaGrange, Ga., June 23.—(Special.) Professor John E. Witherspoon, who for many years has been a prominent figure in the educational work of Georgia, died at his home here this morning.

At the time of his death he was surrounded all the members of his family with the exception of his eldest son, who is in the navy, on the battleship Minnesota. His immediate family is composed of his wife, two daughters and two sons, one a boy named Randall.

Professor Witherspoon has been in declining health for some years, but his death from heart failure early this morning was a great shock to all his family and friends. He had returned only a few days ago from Florida, where he had been teaching all winter, hoping that the Florida climate would restore his failing health.

The funeral will take place Tuesday in Griffin.

Two Auto Accidents Monday In Atlanta's Business Center

G. W. Motes, Retired Photographer, Knocked Down by Hugh Inman's Automobile.

C. W. Motes, one of Atlanta's pioneer photographers, was knocked down by Hugh Inman's automobile last evening at 5:15 o'clock as he was crossing Whitehall street, near the intersection of Alabama, and it was over an hour before he regained consciousness.

Though his elbows were bruised, his side wrenched and his forehead badly gashed, it is not thought that Mr. Motes was seriously injured.

Though retiring as one of Atlanta's foremost photographers nearly a decade ago, for over twenty years Mr. Motes was king of the picture-takers on Whitehall street. He is now 73 years old.

Patrolman Davis picked up the victime of the automobile accident and ordered the chauffeur, who was alone in the Inman car, to drive Mr. Motes to the apartments of his daughter, at 500 Spring street, where his injuries were dressed. The driver of the car gave his name as Major Stevens. He was arrested for reckless driving, though protesting that he did all in his power to avoid the accident, even stopping the car before it passed over Mr. Motes.

Johnny Nickers Run Down by Auto Truck and Driver Is Placed Under Arrest.

While hundreds gazed on Johnny Nickers, a 6-year-old newsboy, of 121 West Pine street, was run down by an auto truck late yesterday afternoon at the corner of Marietta and Forsyth streets.

He was carried to Grady hospital in badly bruised and cut condition. After his wounds had been given medical attention, he was released and returned to his home. The truck was operated by the traffic department of the postoffice and was driven by E. V. D. Manning, a postal clerk living at 24 Spencer street.

He was carried to police headquarters equipment of the squadron did not of an automobile was docketed against him. He was released on collateral of $200, and will be tried before Recorder Broyles this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The injured newsboy was thrown several feet when struck. The car did not run over him. Traffic was tied up on account of the accident for several minutes.

Manier Hit by Street Car.

W. C. Manier, of Chattanooga, Tenn., age 18, was struck by a trolley car at Broad and Marietta streets last night and was carried to the Atlanta hospital, where his wounds were dressed. Though badly cut, his injuries are not considered serious.

AT THE THEATERS

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

There is a corking good bill at the Forsyth this week, and if the behavior of the Monday afternoon audience can be considered a criterion for the rest of the week, the actors are all going to be in love with Atlanta before the week is over, for the applause was the most generous of the season.

From start to finish the bill proceeded. The Four Hayamas, Jap acrobats, open the bill, and give it a splendid start. Minnie Allen, a singing comedienne, comes next with a number of catchy songs.

Dorothy Richmond and her company present a "Midnight Marriage." It tells the story of a man who wakes from a drunk, finds he has married, and, of course, in the end the newlyweds find they knew each other a long time ago, and then "they lived happily ever after" seems to be in order. The sketch is well acted.

Doc O'Neil, a laugh specialist, made good. His material has been used, however, here in Atlanta.

The Six Musical Cuttys "stopped" the show. The act is one of the best ever put on in Atlanta. So long as they wished to sing and to play they remained before the footlights. When they left the stage for the performances, the majority of the people in front made a mental resolve to come again to hear this act.

Gertrude Vanderbilt and George Moore followed the Cuttys and proceeded to prove that lightning sometimes strikes twice in the same place, for this act "cleaned." There is no daintier dancer, no more magnetic little woman on the stage today than Miss Vanderbilt and George Moore has been a favorite here for years.

"Ideal" in diving and swimming closed the bill. This young woman does all the difficult feats first offered here by Kellerman, and adds many more. She will probably give a private exhibition for ladies only before the close of the week.
